Stockmen Have "Gala" Time At KILE Banquet

BY
EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — If you judge the Stockman's Gala at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Friday night by the increase in attendance over last year, it's a success. Under a new banquet buffet format, exhibitors could come to the cafeteria at the farm show building "as-you-are" instead of attending a "dress-up" affair away from the complex. With the Keystone Quartet and the Livestock Man and Youth awards as a draw, 280 persons bought the $15 tickets and last-minute requests had to be turned down.

Dr. Grant Sherritt, Penn State University professor, was named Livestock Man of the Year. Sherritt has been the swine coordinator and instructor at the university since 1949. He teaches courses in swine management, breed history, livestock marketing, and introduction to livestock management. Sherritt is coordinator of student advisors for the animal science department in addition to his responsibilities in the management and breeding programs of the swine herd at Penn State.

Active in both professional and community affairs, Sherritt has professional affiliations with the American Yorkshire Club, the American Society of Animal Science, Gamma Sigma Delta, Sigma Xi, and the Pennsylvania Livestock and Allied Industries. He has served as a judge for the National Yorkshire Type Committee, the National Berkshire Carcass Committee, and the National Barrow Show Carcass Committee. He has

KILE Completes Another Banner Year

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)— The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) just completed its 33rd annual edition at the State Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

KILE has long been recognized as a competitive forum and showcase for the nation's top breeders. Over 3,500 animals were entered in this year's show. To make KILE more attractive and competitive with other national shows, $30,000 was added to this year's purse, boosting total premiums offered to $125,000.

Pennsylvania is proud to host a national livestock show because the spirit of competition can only continue to improve the state's industry. Livestock production and meat products are a vital part of Pennsylvania's number one agricultural industry. The total value of all cattle, hogs and sheep on Pennsylvania farms at the end of 1988 was $1.40 billion, up four percent from the previous year, according to the Pennsylvania

Lancaster County 4-H'ers Excell At KILE

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — For the second time in three years, the Lancaster County 4-H team has won the Keystone International Livestock Exposition junior division of the 33rd Intercollegiate and Junior Livestock Judging Competition.

This year's team, composed of Fred Weaver, Doug Musser, John Hess, and Greg Harnish, edged out the Minnesota 4-H team by just 19 points for the title. Coming in third place was the Maryland 4-H team with 2,180 points.

Gay Ridge Holsteins

Father And Son Team Up For Success

BY PAT PURCELL

IJAMSVILLE, MD — Donald Wilcom is not interested in producing cows which excel in the show ring. He is more interested in production and longevity. His son, Greg Wilcom, however, has the show bug and for the past four years has trucked cattle from Maryland to Madison and many points in between to have the chance to exhibit Gay Ridge Holsteins.

But it was C Cathland Lilac that made both of them happy and proud when she became supreme champion of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show held in Harrisburg last month.

This six-year-old daughter of Spring Farm Incumbent ET took the final walk to the center of the ring to receive her Pennsylvania All-American Supreme Champion banner.

Lilac's 5-year-old record is 32,760 pounds of milk, 4.7% butterfat test, 1,547 pounds of butterfat, 3.3% protein at 1,078 pounds protein in 305 days. In 350 days milk production is at 34,987 pounds, 1,681 pounds of butterfat, 1,164 pounds of protein. Lilac is owned by Greg Wilcom, Charles Burrier and Michael Pue III.

Greg returned from Madison's World Dairy Expo last week with another grand champion trophy. There's a bit of rivalry between two Gay Ridge owned animals. While Lilac won her class, it was C Hanson Prestar Mona Lisa which captured the championship of the World Dairy Expo's Holstein Show. This is Gay Ridge's second Acres Corn Update: Corn futures settled from 1/4 to 1-3/4 cents higher on late short covering and commercial buying tied to cash-connected demand. Further support was tied to pre-report positioning and firmer basis levels along with reports of slack producer sales despite good harvest progress. Pre-release estimates for this week's USDA Crop Report, which is scheduled for release at 3:00 p.m. CDT tomorrow, came in at 7.399 billion bushels which compares with the September USDA estimate of 7.321 billion bushels. December corn settled today at $2.35, up 1-3/4 cents, after trading in a range from $2.33-1/4 to $2.35-1/4. Bids for generic certificates were mostly steady.

Acres Soybean Update: Soybeans futures prices closed from unchanged to 3 cents higher but off session highs on late sales tied to the collapse of soyoil. Price support on the opening was in response to oversold indicators and light pre-report short covering. Pre-report estimates are putting production at 1.919 billion bushels which is up slightly from the USDA September figure of 1.889 billion bushels. Contract lows were touched today shortly before the close with November settling unchanged at $5.52-1/4 after trading in a range from $5.51 to $5.57.

Acres Wheat Update: Wheat futures prices lost from 1/4 to 2-3/4 cents this afternoon on selling tied to cash market weakness and news that bids by Algeria and Turkey for export bonus had been rejected. Opening pressure was tied to disappointment over less than expected export inspections last week with light commercial buying limiting losses. Volume for the day was light with December settling 2-3/4 cents lower at $4.04-1/4 after trading in a range from $4.03 to $4.07. July lost only 1/4 cent, settling at $3.54-3/4.

Acres Cattle Update: Live and feeder cattle futures settled higher gaining late in the session on buying in response to reports of active fed cattle sales at higher prices. Reports of $72.00 for top steers in Western Kansas fueled buying along with expectations for higher beef cut out values after yesterday's higher quotes. Prices were confined to narrow range trading because many traders felt the premium to cash had already been factored in the strong fed trade along with general hesitancy to establish long positions at current high levels. Live cattle gained from 10 to 35 while feeders closed 20 to 60 higher.

CME FEEDER SETTLEMENT PRICE: 10/09/89 - $83.07 down $ .12

NEXT DAY OUTLOOK CASH PRICES - steady to higher FUTURES PRICES - steady to mixed

Acres Hog Update: Live hog futures prices closed mixed today with settlements from 30 lower on the February to 40 higher on the spot October. Front month support was tied to continued cash market firmness and active bull spreading with gains held in check by higher than expected interior receipts. Ideas that tomorrow's cash market would be steady to lower due to packer resistance at current levels served to temper gains. Profit-taking was also featured today with additional losses in the back months coming on active belly/hog spreading. Bellies were sharply higher on ideas that recent losses were overdone. October live hogs settled 40 higher at $47.62 after trading in a range from $47.25 to $47.80.

Take Your Seat, The Performance Is About To Begin.

You'll applaud the performance of Funk's G-Hybrids like G-4543, G-4626 and G-4446 when the curtain falls at harvest time.

A top choice for shelled grain or ear corn in 110 to 120-day maturity areas, G-4543 produces maximum yields even at lower populations. In Delaware hybrid field corn trials, it topped the field with 148.4 bu./A.

G-4626 has it all in a 115 to 120-day maturity hybrid—fast dry-down, outstanding stay-green, superior standability, excellent plant health and exceptional yields. In Delaware trials, G-4626 produced yields up to 200.9 bu./A.

G-4446 delivers superior late season standability, excellent grain quality and high test weights. A multi-purpose, widely adapted hybrid, G-4446 produced a state record 252.4 bu./A. in the 1986 Pa. Five-Acre Corn Club competition.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

OCT. 16-22, 1989

Oct. 16, St. Gallus Day, patron of geese.

If St. Gallus Day be dry, a dry spring . . Oct. 16 is Dictionary Day, the birthday of Noah Webster. . Third Tuesday, Oct. 17, is Apple Tuesday . . . Average length of days for the week 10 hours 55 minutes . . . Oct. 20 birthdays include Mickey Mantle, Dr. Joyce Brothers, Art Buchwald, Keith Hernandez, and Arlene Francis . . . Oct 20, 1873, P.T. Barnum opens Hippodrome in New York City to house "Greatest Show on Earth"

God could not be everywhere; therefore he made mothers

Ask the Old Farmer: Just what was a "Kentish pony" re Yankee Doodle? S. P., Tenn.

A Kentish pony was a small horse somehow associated with Kent, England. The term probably came from there, but blowed if we believe the horses did.

Home Hints: Never burn poison ivy vines, the toxic oils will contaminate the smoke and can cause blisters

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Rain and warm to start the week, then turning partly cloudy and seasonable at mid-week. More warm temperatures and wet days cap it off

Greater New York-New Jersey: Rain and cool is the rule. Clear and pleasant days follow, then more cool temperatures predominate, with showers.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Rainstorm starts off the week and temperatures are coolish Clear and pleasantly warm days break the wet spell, but briefly

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Rain is light in the southeast and then it's cool. Skies clear but the cool temperatures continue; then sunny and warm

PARADISE TOBACCO AUCTION IS BACK!

It is a year that we expect an intense demand for all your tobaccos. You farmers are in the drivers seat this year. If you sell on the farm before auction opens, market price may be determined too quickly and too cheaply. Paradise will keep you informed of market info each week in this Lancaster Farming space.

People from all parts of the country have been here to inquire about how much tobacco we will have in the market place. We have already sent out a lot of good samples representing a quality crop. We finally have gotten a sound committment from a large tobacco company to follow your auction. Your dream has come true and you will be rewarded for your support of the tobacco auction system. Paradise continues to work to put PA grown tobacco on the map. Remember, Maryland tobacco auction went 5 years before attracting tobacco companies to their market. We have gone through 4 years now, and see light at the end of the tunnel.

The tobacco auction system stands stronger among farmers and buyers than it ever has - NO MATTER WHATEVER ANYBODY TELLS YOU!!

After last year you should respect the auction system and its IMPACT!! You need to have enough confidence in the tobacco auction system to wait until it opens before you sell either type of tobacco!! This could be a year of the greatest demand you have seen for both type 41 and 609 tobacco - and Paradise expects to make a market in both types. Brace yourself hard for buyers coming out early to the farm to buy this crop before auction opens and the big new tobacco company arrives - YOU MAY BE TEMPTED BY BIG PRICES!! Don't forget the auction in a good year - remember when you wanted us in the tough years?

FOCUS ON PARADISE - We have become PA's tobacco marketing center. The auction system can survive - but it soley depends on you, "The Tobacco Farmer" - to support it and make it work!!!

AGAIN - YOU WILL BE TEMPTED BY BIG PRICES BEFORE AUCTION OPENS BUT BE STRONG - AUCTION WILL WORK TO MAKE THEM BIGGER! Remember, we will sell both types of tobacco.

For Sale: 3 Compartment bale boxes with either hydraulic or hand jacks; Cotton baling twine, we can ship UPS.

OPINION

Case Closed

According to Alexander Pope, who lived in the early 1700's, "To error is human, to forgive divine." And that's what happened this week when State Secretary Boyd Wolff brought Governor Robert Casey's apologies to the livestock industry at the Stockmen's Gala Monday night.

Earlier this year, a proclamation went out under the governor's signature in support of a "meatout day" that called attention to the position of Animal Rights groups who want to eliminage animal agriculture as we know it. But Secretary Wolff said it was a mistake done by staff persons who did not understand the position of the governor.

Reading from a letter to William Ringler, master of the State Grange, Wolff quoted the governor as saying:

"Every year, thousands of proclamations and citations are issued by branches of state government in order to acknowledge the efforts of particular groups and organizations. In this specific case, however, the proclamation released by my office did not and does not represent the position of my administration as it relates to meat production and the agricultural industries that depend on it.

"When I became aware of the proclamation, I immediately directed that the document be rescinded because of my strong belief that Pennsylvania should do all it can to promote our number one industry--agriculture. It is important to me that you know that I strongly disagree with any suggestion that farmers abuse animals. To the contrary, I cannot imagine a group more dedicated to the health and welfare of farm animals than farmers themselves."

And Ringler accepts the appology at face value. When contacted at his office later in the week, he said he was quite satisfied with the letter. "The governor has a nice tone to his letters and the man did all he could," Ringler said. "I understand how it could have happened and very frankly, he rescinded the proclamation and I have no more problem with it."

Neither do we. Case closed.

FARM FORUM OUR READERS WRITE

Editor:

Hi! My name is Kelly Dutrey and this is my first year in the York County 4-H Lamb Club and The Swine Club. I have been helping my parents raise sheep since I was really little. I am nine years old. At the York Fair, I got first in my weight class. My sheep weighed ninety pounds. He's really doing well. I hope to do well with him at this coming Roundup. I really enjoyed working on my animals this year and have had fun keeping their records on my parents computer.

By the way, I would like to invite you to our Roundup. We are going to be selling cattle and sheep.

Our sale will be held on Monday, October 16 at Weikert's Buying Station in Thomasville. The Lamb Sale will start at 6:30 p.m. and the cattle sale will start at 7:00 p.m.

I hope you can make it to the sale. We have a buyer's social with refreshments at 6:00. Thank You.

Kelly Dutrey
Dallastown

P.S.: (If you cannot attend the sale, or cannot use my lamb at this time, you can still support the sale and get some public advertising by contacting the York County 4-H Extension Office and talking to Tony Dobrosky at 757-9657, or my parents at 244-7307 and arrangements can be made for my lamb to be resold to the Buying Station at an announced market price. All buyers are recognized in the York newspapers, Lancaster Farming and at our annual club banquet.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Graze Cautiously

During this time of year we receive many phone calls concerning the damages of pasturing forage crops after being frosted. All of the permanent grasses such as bluegrass, orchardgrass or bromegrass can be safely grazed at any time of the year; this is also true of any of the small grain cover crops such as rye, wheat or barley. All of these are not toxic when frozen and usually do not present any bloating problems.

However, the legumes such as clover and alfalfa should be grazed very carefully. They are not toxic after being frosted, but will cause severe bloating if consumed while the frost is on the leaves. Allow the frost to thaw, and the plants to dry off before turning in the herd or flock.

Also, any of the sudan grasses or sorghum hybrids should not be grazed for at least a week after being frozen. Neither should the new growth, after being frozen, be consumed.

To Reduce Egg Breakage

Egg breakage is costing poultry producers a great deal. You would be surprised how much. Some poultry producers do not realize how many eggs they are losing because they're not keeping an accurate record of them. In studies where this has been checked carefully, the percentage of eggs broken range from 2% to 5% up to 10%. With a flock of 60,000 layers averaging 75% production, a loss of 4% is 1,800 eggs per day or 150 dozen. This loss comes to $90 per day or $2,700 per month when eggs sell for 60 cents per dozen.

Check the nests or cages for needed repair. Often we find eggs being broken right in the cages. Check the egg trays. If these are bent, they can break many eggs. Careful handling will reduce breakage if eggs are gathered by hand. Trying for too much speed in gathering may cause more loss than a little extra time.

With mechanized gathering, check the escalators to be sure they are timed properly and are not breaking eggs. Check the orientors to be sure eggs are not piling up. This is an egg cracker on many farms.

To Plan Winter Weed Control In Alfalfa

As the alfalfa plant slows down and prepares to go into dormancy, other plant populations in that same field can be increasing in vigor and growth. These are the winter annual weeds: chickweed, shepherds purse, yellow rocket and some grassy weeds which overwinter. All are in their young stages of growth.

You'll not see crop injury now, but wait until that first cutting comes off next May. Those same little weeds all will have flowered and set seed by that time. Not only do yield losses occur but field curing problems and lower hay quality results.

Fall applied herbicide(s) will largely eliminate the costly winter weed problem. The Agronomy Guide lists a number of effective materials. Follow label instructions for application rates.

For Farm Show Entries

January, and Pennsylvania Farm Show time, seems like a long time away. But, really it is not, because now is the time to be making your livestock and dairy entries for the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Just a reminder that November 2 is the deadline for these entries -- and that is close at hand. So, if you are interested in exhibiting at Farm Show, you can obtain entry blanks and a premium book from your County Extension Office. The Farm Show runs from January 7 through 12, 1990.

The Penn State Cooperative Extension is an affirmative action, equal opportunity educational institution.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

POLITICAL POWER

October 8, 1989

Background Scripture:
Daniel 12.
Devotional Reading:
Matthew 13:36-43.

People have argued over the meaning of Daniel and his visions almost from the first day that they were recorded. Was Daniel speaking only of his own times, or was he foreseeing a distant future that still lies beyond us and our world today? I don't wish to become embroiled in that argument because I think it fruitless. Besides, the scriptures are not really for argument, but for inspiration and performance.

Regardless of those arguments, there is something valuable in Daniel 12 that quite transcends the vagaries of interpretation. As in all of the Book of Daniel, the message is one of both warning and consolation and this two-fold message is for us as well as for those who lived in Daniel's time.

UNPRECEDENTED TROUBLE

Daniel's visionary dreams told him that "there shall be a time of trouble, such as never has been since there was a nation til that time" (Daniel 12:1a). Quite unlike many of our contemporary visions of the future, things do not gradually evolve into some kind of paradise. In fact, according to Daniel, the culmination of God's plan is directly preceded by a time of trouble that has no precedent.

So this is the warning Daniel gives the people of Israel: before God's victory, a time of trouble. Daniel doesn't tell us anything about this time of trouble, but in the rest of the book he has consistently indicated a recurring struggle between God's children and their enemies. The reason for the struggle, it would seem, is the failure of God's children to do and be all that they could. The latter, of course, earn "shame and everlasting contempt" (12:2).

What this says to us some two thousand years later is that times of trouble don't "just come," they are caused. The causes are many: human greed, enmity, injustice, unrighteousness, and so on. So whenever we find ourselves in a time of great trouble, we need to ask ourselves what we need to learn from it. Illness, for example, is often an outer signal that something is wrong with us within. Perhaps it means we are consumed by bitterness or prejudice, or that we live a lifestyle that takes too great a toll on us. Whenever trouble comes and in whatever form it comes: it has a message for us.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL

Secondly, trouble is God's opportunity and ours to turn our troubles into something else. There is never a trouble so great that we can't learn something from it. There is never a concern that we can't turn into something positive. This is one of the great themes of the Bible: that God is able to bring good out of evil and life out of death. This is the message of many of the Old Testament prophets and all of the New Testament. In a sense, the whole Bible is based on this theme. Many of us would probably prefer that the Bible told us how to avoid trouble. It doesn't. But it does tell us how to meet trouble and with the help of God to turn it into something redemptive.

If we do the rewards are boundless: "those who are wise shall shine like the brightness of the firmament" and "those who turn many to righteousness, like the stars for ever and ever" (12:3). In times of trouble that we cannot escape, we need to remember that by God's grace we can be victors instead of victims.

TWO NEW SIGNS OF PROSPERITY.

For better standability and higher yields.

Not every seed corn can stand the test of our tough growing season. But Agway AG658 and AG838 can because they're bred specifically for the soil, climate and growing conditions in this region.

So when you see these Agway signs, you know you're looking at the promise of excellent standability and outstanding yield potential.

For a prosperous 1990 season, ask your Agway Farm Enterprise Salesperson for the facts on these proven hybrids.

Working for people who work the land.

MoorMan's Beef Cattle Boost Medicated

They're right off the truck, probably off feed and vulnerable to sickness

Getting those calves eating and gaining again is the key to your profitability and maybe their survival A simple, economical way to do it is with MoorMan's Adjustment Program

Just add 1 lb per head daily of Beef Cattle Boost® to your own forage and grain Feed it for 28 days after arrival It's highly palatable and easily digested by stressed calves So they eat more feed which helps increase gain and reduce sickness

Beef Cattle Boost contains Aureo S 700* which aids in the maintenance of weight gain in the presence of respiratory disease such as shipping fever

Ask your MoorMan Representative about Beef Cattle Boost It's the easiest way to help your calves survive and thrive

TIPS ON BUYING SEED CORN

Here's what one farm editor says —

"Buy '90 inputs in '89? Looks like it might be a good move, especially if you can get early bird discounts. But price breaks must be 8% to 10% to come close to matching alternative places for stashing extra cash."

"Corn, soybean and wheat growers probably will open throttle a big further next year by planting more acres. Same holds for alfalfa growers."

" Buying ahead is one way to ensure that you get the seed you want in a first come - first served market. Legumes may be in tightest supply."

John Vogel in Money Trends.

Folks at Doebler's couldn't agree more —

- That's why we offer a full 10% cash discount this fall on all seed corn. And you take that 10% on top of regular sale and volume discounts.
- Our new Dealer Alert program all but guarantees you get what you ordered. If we haven't got it, your dealer won't sell it. Simple as that.
- But don't buy on price alone. Check out quality, too. With all seed corn companies. Then see us. No one beats Doebler's on seed quality and hybrid performance. Sale ends November 15.

Sun Shines On Manheim Dairy Show

BY PAT PURCELL

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — A beautiful, warm, sunny day for the Manheim Farm Show dairy competition was quite a change after several years of brisk, unfriendly weather for show goers. The dairy show was as rewarding as the weather with quality dairy cattle from the Holstein, Jersey, Ayrshire, and Guernsey breeds competing for premiums, ribbons and trophies, but mostly for the judge's approval of their breeding program. John Bomgardner, a Holstein breeder from Lebanon County judged the show.

Angie Spickler of Mount Joy captured the junior champion title with MAK Laetest Kate II. Kate was also the reserve junior champion at the 4-H County Round-up this year. Elizabeth Spickler won the reserve junior title with Stars Stetson Star-lite.

Grand champion of the show went to Ron Groff's senior 2-year-old, Starglow. This champion was the grand champion of the Ephrata Fair Dairy Show. Reserve grand went to Angie Spickler's intermediate calf and junior champion

Harold Brubaker of Manheim won the grand championship in the Guernsey division. The Brubaker family are well-known Holstein breeders, but Harold could not resist purchasing two Guernseys when they became available for purchase. Fawn Lane Dots Handy has taken grand champions at the Manheim Farm Show previously and continued her reign this year. Reserve grand went to Heather Henisee's W. S. Telstar Annie, a 4-year-old.

The Brubaker family carried on the tradition of winning in the Holstein compeition. Grand championship titles went to Lowell's 3-year-old and 5-year-old entries. The grand champion was H H Regal Vanessa, a first grand title for her and a well-deserved with an outstanding mammary system.

In the youth Holstein division Jason Wivell of Columbia won the grand title with his 2-year-old, Donegal-Creek Melvin Ginger. In 4 years of showing this was his first grand championship. Melanie Balmer of Manheim took the reserve grand title for Balmer Bros. Farm with her 3-year-old Leh-Mer-Pine Bell Tiffany.

In the open division Lowell Brubaker took the junior championship. Derek Hershey won the reserve junior title in his first competition.

Matt Kolb of Lancaster took both junior and reserve junior titles in the youth Holstein show.

Harnish, Hess Show Manheim Farm Show Champion Steers

BY LISA RISSER

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Little did Sharon Harnish and John Hess know, as they trucked their KILE purchases home, that their feeder calves would wind up as grand and reserve grand champion steers of the Manheim Farm Show.

Harnish's Limousin-Angus-Chianina cross and Hess' Angus, travelling companions from the 1988 Keystone International Livestock Exposition, impressed judge Rodney Gilbert of Delaware Valley College. He named Hairy, Harnish's steer, as FFA champion before tapping it for the grand champion rosette. Hess's steer, Bert, beat out the other 4-H steers on its way to the reserve grand champion title.

This was the first champion steer for Harnish, who is the 16-year-old daughter of Rodney and Nancy Harnish of Lititz. Harnish has been showing steers for four years and belongs to both 4-H and FFA. Besides being involved with steers, she is active with the county's 4-H equine organizations and is a member of a 4-H hippology team.

The son of John and Sue Hess of Manheim, Hess had last year's Manheim Farm Show grand and FFA champion. Tuesday night was the last beef competition as a 4-H'er for the 18-year-old, who recently competed in the KILE livestock judging contest where his team placed first. He showed another steer at Manheim that was named the reserve champion FFA steer.

Hess is active in FFA as well and currently is acting as the Pennsylvania FFA eastern regional vice president.

ARE LIVESTOCK and PLANT DISEASES AND INSECTS INCREASING TOO FAST?

WE SURELY AGREE

Many farmers don't realize the extent of it. New cow diseases including contagious Lyme disease in cows, pets and humans is spreading, especially in Maryland. Milk may therefore get unpopular like Alar sprayed apples. Field sprays also may be found in milk and become despised.

Penn State Newsletter lists new diseases coming, old ones coming earlier. Carolina Farmer says leaf diseases cost growers $55.5 million. Herbicides wearing out. New ones may be more toxic and both banned. It is not necessary to destroy the earth and get destroyed (Rev. 11:18). The Creators plan works because He is perfect. We have huge acreage customers totally off chemicals with much more profit then chemical growers having received 83 bu. to 90 bu. soybeans per acre. Now $8.00 per bu. this year, and 29% protein hay. Dairy Vet bills almost zero because their feed was grown according to natural law. Good healthy alfalfa while same age chemically grown adjacent field died.

Some farmers were reluctant to go organic because it wasn't popular. The year 1989 reversed it fast because our crops far exceeded in last years drought, and because of consumer demand to prevent disease in livestock and men. Our customers get the high prices now while chemical farmers have to delay because they didn't have the vision or foresight, rather unbelief. Free literature.

Only Farm Credit Has Loan Officers Who Were Trained In The Field.

While you were growing up on the farm going to 4-H, FFA, maybe even AG school, do you know what your Farm Credit loan officer was doing?

Same thing.

Not many bankers can say that.

True, they can make loans nine ways to Sunday. But, now your Farm Credit loan officer can, too. Over the last few years our people have gone through extensive training at making every kind of farm loan imaginable. Now a Farm Credit loan officer can give you the lowdown on rates, options and creative financing as well as any city banker can.

And around here, our Farm Credit loan officers have the power of approval that's equal to most bank presidents.

So the next time you need to get a farm loan, think about this for just a moment.

Then let one of our Farm Credit loan officers prove to you what we've been saying all along.

That bankers can't be farmers. But farmers can be bankers.

Manheim Farm Show Attracts Attention

A children's barnyard allows youngsters to pet farm animals. Manheim FFA members will take children on tours through the barnyard and distribute pamphlets and coloring books. Adam Bruckhart (kneeling), an FFA member, takes Lindsay and her brother Sean Williams of Harrisburg on a barnyard tour.

Shepherd's lead line contestants and their sheep modeled their woolly best at Manheim Farm Show on Monday night. Sheep and their mistresses are judged on their woolen attire and poise. From the eleven contestants, judges chose Diane Musser, 16, as the senior division winner and Lorie Boll, 11, as the junior division winner. Diane, a junior from Elizabethtown High School, modeled a 100 percent wool, forest green and black suit. She wore a matching black wool hat and shoes. Lorie, from Mount Joy, modeled a multicolored flared wool skirt and blue 100 percent wool pullover sweater. Buster, her sheep, sported a matching scarf.

Amanda, 4-year-old daughter of Tim and Penny Grube of Elm, hugs her goat named Ashley at the 36th annual Manheim Community Farm Show. The goat exhibition, featuring 63 goats in five breeds, is a new livestock event this year. The farm show, held in the area around Manheim Central High School, will continue through Friday.

York County 4-H'er Named Junior Stockman

HARRISBURG — Jim Fitzgerald was named Keystone Junior Stockman of the Year after capturing high individual honors at the 12th annual Keystone Stockmen's Contest held in conjunction with the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Fitzgerald, of Etters, was competing as a York County 4-H member. As Junior Stockman, he received a $500 U.S. savings bond along with $75 in premium money, a trophy, and ribbon. He scored 737 points out of a possible 850.

Runner up in the contest with 722 points was John Welsh of Keezletown, Va. Welsh was a member of the high-scoring team, Spotswood FFA chapter. Welsh earned a $250 savings bond, $70, and a trophy. In third place was Cathy Shive of Seven Valleys, another York County 4-H'er. She received a $100 savings bond, $65, and a trophy.

"We had an outstanding field of candidates this year," said Tony Dobrosky, York County Extension agent and chairman for the contest. "It was a very good contest with 447 agricultural students from six states participating."

The Spotswood FFA chapter, from Penn Laird, comprised Welsh, Julie Meadows, Brett Seal Elkton, and Loren Rhodes. Coming in second with a total of 2,057 points was the York County 4-H "A" team, which was composed of Robin Shive of Seven Valleys, Sandy Eisenhour of Wellsville, Fitzgerald, and Bradley Trowbridge of Spring Grove.

York County's 4-H "B" team placed third with 2,038 points. Team members were Cathy Shive, Ed Livingston of Dover, Kim Frantz of Seven Valleys, and Amy Dutrey of Dallastown.

The contest offers students an opportunity to gain valuable experience in evaluation and decision making by judging livestock events. Contestants were required to judge feeder steers, market steers, breeding heifers, market swine, market gilts, market lambs, ewes, and wholesale and retail meat cuts. In addition, they were asked to complete a quiz on animal production, health and management, identify 10 pieces of farm equipment and 10 feeds.

The top overall team in the Stockman's Contest was the Spotswood FFA chapter from Penn Laird, Va. Members are, from left, Loren Rhodes, Julie Meadows, John Welsh, and Brett Seal.

The top three overall individuals in the Stockman's Contest were, from left, John Welsh of Penn Laird, Va., second; Jim Fitzgerald of York County, first; and Cathy Shive of Seven Valleys, third.

1989 Crop Soybean Loan Rate Set

WASHINGTON, DC — Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter recently announced the final price support loan and purchase rate for 1989 crop soybeans is $4.53 per bushel.

The 1989 final rate is the same as the preliminary rate announced previously. All producers of 1989 crop soybeans will be eligible for loans and purchase.

The basic loan and purchase rate of $4.53 per bushel is based upon a formula prescribed by statute. The statute also provides discretionary authority to reduce the rate up to an additional five percent, but not below $4.50 per bushel, to maintain competitiveness.

Soybeans are not eligible for the farmer-owned reserve programs or for storage payments. A regulatory impact analysis on the 1989 soybean program may be obtained from Director, Commodity Analysis Division, USDA/ASCS, Room 3741-S, PO Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

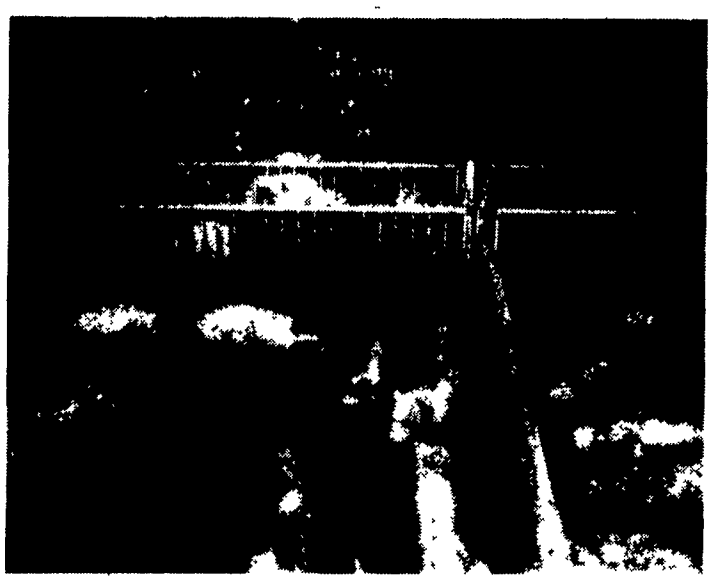
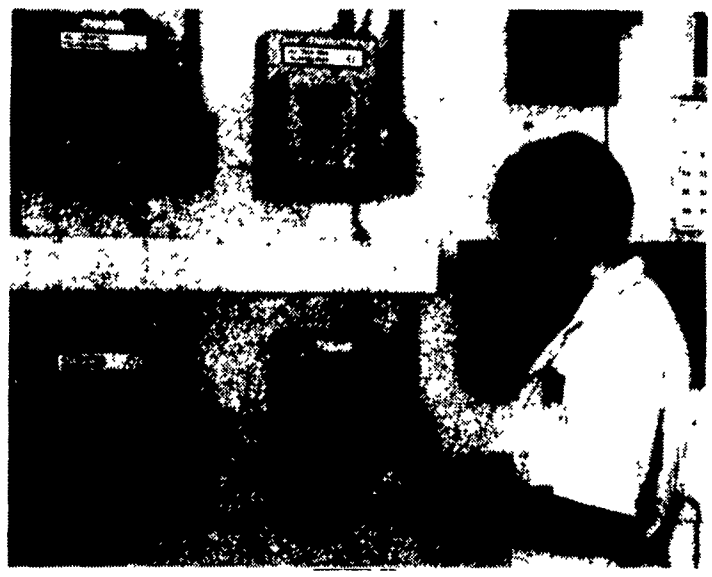
MORE HOGS TO MARKET





controlled environment is the reason.

Raising hogs isn't just a business . . . it's a science! In swine complexes like the one pictured above, thousands of gilts are introduced to the breeding process and closely monitored throughout gestation. Their young are cross fostered to insure a higher rate of survival, then registered by computer, so as to provide day by day progress reports for the highly specialized staff that operates the complex.

The amount of heat, humidity, water, and rations each hog receives has been carefully calculated and researched. Now, sturdy, well built equipment specially designed to meet these strict requirements carries the proper amounts of air, water, and nutrients to each hog.

The result is more hogs actually going from finisher to market . . . and that means profit!

If you want to raise hogs and make a profit, you need Hershey Equipment Company. Hershey researches, designs, manufacturers, and builds swine systems. Hershey even operates its own system profitably! Get the benefit of experience . . . Call Hershey Equipment Company today!

Two Animals Top Pennsylvania Elite Ayrshire Sale

BY MILT BRUBAKER

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Elite Ayrshire Sale held Sept. 26, in conjunction with the PA All-American Dairy Show was a buyer's sale with high quality consignments and conservative prices. Two animals topped the sale.

Jeff Henry of Bessemer, Pa. paid $1,250 for a just-fresh fancy-uddered heifer from Ardrossan Farms in Villanova, Pa. Henry also bought a tall bred heifer sired by Adrossan Star M. Mr. Ross, consigned by Masonic Homes Farm at Elizabethtown, Pa. for $1,150. Henry is starting to build an Ayrshire herd on his home farm and now owns five Ayrshires.

The second animal to sell at $1,250 was a Sunny Acres Superior daughter with a 3-year-record of 20,438 pounds of milk, 4.0% test, at 824 pounds of butterfat. Her dam and both granddams made over 123,000 pounds of milk at 4.2% test, 5,434 pounds of butterfat on lifetime records. She sold to Dale Graves of Randolph, New York and was consigned by Lamar Gochley who bought her as a calf from Charles Gable. She was a FFA project for Gochley.

Harold Kulp of Pottstown paid $1,000 for Ardrossan Just Viewed, a sharp daughter of Ardrossan Ev Kates Trident, one of the three bulls in the semen exchange program with Scotland.

Helen Hevener of Staunton, Va. was the high volume buyer taking six head for $5,045. Top of her purchases was Ann Young's Timberlawn bred heifer at $1,050 which calved that evening after the sale.

Philip Bozlinski of Wampum, Pa. purchased the senior calf at $600 consigned by Maple Dell Farm of Woodbine, Maryland. Philip also bought the junior calf at $710 consigned by Wade Johnson of Latrobe, Pa.

Liz Gress sold her junior calf to Gayle Rodgers of Belleville, Pa. for $710. The Gress calf and the Johnson calf stood third and second in the All-American dairy show the next day.

It was a day when buyers were glad they attended the Pennsylvania Elite Ayrshire Sale.

FARM MANAGEMENT

Wages And Incentives

By Alan Strock
Farm Management Agent

Farmers, expecting to receive simple numerical answers, ask two basic questions:

"How much should I pay workers? and

"What is the going wage for a good employee?

This is like asking what a dairy cow is worth. The answer is that it all depends upon many important factors which we will discuss briefly. To find out what you can pay you need to work through the discussion below:

Competing With Local Businesses

Are the wages and benefits competitive with non-farm unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled worker earnings? If they are not, sooner or later good employees will move to better paying jobs, regardless of their career objectives. It is not easy to directly compare farm and non-farm wages, so the farm manager must be prepared to discuss with the employee the comparative earnings and the advantages of working on his farm. Remember, you may be offering benefits that the job in town can't.

Will the employee make me money?

The employee must generate enough net income to pay for their wage. The old adage, "bigger is better", may not be true. The extra labor expense must generate an improved net farm income. One method to measure this profitability is by preparing a partial budget. Some managers might prefer a cash flow statement incorporating additional worker inputs and comparing that with their present cash flow.

Budget For Profit

In doing the budgets be sure to project expenses on the high side and income on the low side. There must also be enough margin to pay higher wages to the employees when they deserve it for better job performance or as cost of living dictates increases.

If the projection with the added employee is not positive, it may be time to take a very serious look at other aspects of your farming future, especially cost control and your level of indebtedness. Cooperative Extension has a computer program called FINPACK that is excellent for looking at such budgeting problems.

Farmers often say they cannot afford to pay higher wages, however observations of numerous farm records suggest that operators who pay higher wages generally tend to have better productivity and higher net farm incomes.

Workers' View Of Wages

Wages are probably your employees' major concern, but studies indicate that working conditions and benefits also rank high. Workers must earn enough to maintain a reasonable standard of living within the community. They also value the chance to develop skills and advance in their chosen vocations.

Raises

A well designed system of wage increases is a tool for promoting better labor management on farms. This may consist of an automatic raise at the end of a trial period, or regular annual reviews and adjustments. Cost of living adjustment (COLA) increases are needed by all workers, including farm workers! When raises are based on performance evaluations the job description and performance measures must be thoroughly understood by both the employer and employee.

Gay Ridge Holsteins

grand title in the World Dairy Expo. Lilac earned the same distinction in 1988.

This 125-acre farm in Ijamsville, Maryland, located just 35 miles from the nation's capital, has been home to Donald all of his 49 years. His father, Elwood, purchased the farm in 1937. Donald, his wife, Mary Louise, and both sons Greg and Daniel, farm an additional 500 acres of rented land on two neighboring farms. In addition to the 125 milking cows, the Wilcoms raise nearly 130 head of young stock.

At the Gay Ridge Holstein farm Greg and Donald make no compromises when it comes to breeding and they have proven that cows which produce well can also command the spotlight in the show ring. Gay Ridge Holsteins have earned the distinction of Progressive Breeder herd.

The Wilcoms' milking herd average of 20,000 pounds of milk with a 3.7 percent butterfat test and 750 pounds of butterfat comes from 125-head of registered Holsteins. In this 20,000-pound herd there are five cows with lifetime production records of more than 150,000 pounds and two with more than 200,000 pounds.

The BAA from the last complete classification was 106.9. The Gay Ridge Holstein herd was classified on September 22; however, those results have not been finalized. As of July 1988, the Wilcoms' herd consisted of 20 Excellents and 42 Very Good. The most recent classification may be higher, but Donald Wilcom is not saying a word. A few cows are holding up the results.

According to Donald, the highest score a classifier can give is 95. If the classifier believes the score should be higher, a three-member committee must visit the farm and confer on that decision.

At the present, 5-year-old C Hanson Prestar Mona Lisa is an EX 94; 3-year-old C Helmcrest Marlin Ashley and Concord Hanna are both EX 93s. Lilac is delaying the classification results. Rated an EX 93 previously the classifier has called on the three-member committee to determine her current classification.

The Wilcoms do all their own AI breeding. Although Greg and Donald may not agree on short term goals, on their long-term objectives they are in complete agreement. They breed for longevity and type and have relied across the board on three sires: A Citation Soveriegn, Round Oak Rag Apple Elevation and Rosemere Jury Ivan to build the foundation of their herd. Service sires currently in use are: Hanover Hill Starbuck, Briden Astro Jet, Loc-Lin Ma Elevation Marlin and Hanover Hill Logic. Donald adds that two daughters from Ocean View Sexation and Hanover Hill Triple Threat are performing well for them.

All herd increases have been made through herd offspring. The Wilcoms have been blessed with a better than 50 percent heifer ratio and a ready market for their young stock.

For years the Gay Ridge Holstein herd numbered no more than 40 head, but in the mid '70s Donald began renting additional land and he increased the milking herd to 100 head. By 1987 the milking herd total was near 160 head just prior to a production sale, which sold 60 head, of which 50 animals were of milking age.

Although Donald and Mary Louise are not involved in showing Gay Ridge Holsteins, Donald is proud of Gay Ridge's accomplishments and Mary Louise's scrapbook bulges with newspaper and magazine clippings.

Greg began showing at local fairs five years ago. The Wilcoms had their first grand champion at the Frederick/Montgomery Counties Holstein District show four years ago with Queen Sharon. In September of 1987 C Winfred Marla, a 5-year-old, won the grand championship title at the Maryland State Fair. Marla also captured the supreme champion title of the MD State Fair that year.

1989 has been a very good year for Gay Ridge Holsteins. The Wilcoms exhibited the grand champion at the Frederick/Montgomery District Holstein Show. C Hansen Prestar Mona Lisa captured that honor for Gay Ridge. Grand champion of the Montgomery County Fair also went to Mona Lisa. She captured the grand championship and the supreme title at the Maryland state fair. For the second time the Wilcoms earned premier exhibitor at the State Fair having won the title in 1987 also.

"Lilac won her class at the Maryland State Fair and took reserve grand championship honors and we tossed around whether or not to take her to the PA All-American," said Donald. "We were not sure how well she would do, but we did have a lot of good comments on her before the show."

Gay Ridge Holsteins also took home first places in junior calf, junior 2-year-old, 4-year-old, and 3-year-old classes in the state fair.

"It's been our best year yet," said Mary Louise Wilcom after C Cathland Lilac captured the supreme championship at the Pennsylvania All-American in Harrisburg and with another grand championship at the World Dairy Expo last week, 1989 will be a difficult year to top.

"Our goals are simple—to breed a good, sound type cow, and to reach 20,000 to 24,000 pounds of milk. I believe a larger cow can sustain that kind of production without a lot of stress on the animal," explained Donald.

For the past 12 years they have fed a total mixed ration of alfalfa, haylage, high moisture corn, corn silage, and a small amount of soybean meal twice a week. They raise all their own grain and haylage and depend quite heavily upon their four Harvestores of which two are used for haylage. Three years ago they began feeding roasted soybeans and whole cottonseed as an added source of energy and fat to sustain production as advised by their nutritionist.

While in California for a convention many years ago, Donald toured a California style flat barn that he liked. To imitate it, he put a two-inch low line into the stall barn, with automatic takeoffs and milkers placed in eight stalls in each side of the barn. Converting their existing stall barn was less expensive and more convenient for Donald than installing a conventional parlor.

"We prefer this style because it allows us to work more closely around the cow, to see the cows, more than what a parlor would allow," explained Donald.

Sprayers were installed for pre and post dipping ease.

Fifteen years ago a liquid-manure storage system was installed to utilize the nutrient value of the manure more efficiently and to preserve the quality of the stream which cuts through the farm. The Wilcoms inject all the manure. The farm, Donald added, has not received any commercial fertilizer for six years.

All these efforts combined have allowed both Don and his son Greg to satisfy their desires for Gay Ridge Holsteins. For Greg, it's victory in the show ring and, for Don, production and longevity are his trophies. .

Donald Wilcom (right) has copied the California style flat barn in his stall barn at Gay Ridge Holsteins rather than install a conventional milking parlor. Daniel and his father are examining the sprayer which replaces pre and post dipping teats and eliminates a lot of bending.

Proper Management Cuts Crop Loss From Frosted Corn

TIPTON, IN. — Only a year after the century's worst drought, farmers from Michigan and Indiana east through Pennsylvania now are coping with the effects of too much moisture.

The result: increased potential for significant reductions in crop yields, quality and farmers' return on their investments.

"Heavy rains delayed spring planting in large sections of Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and parts of Michigan, and that means a lot of acres may not be fully mature before they get hit by a hard frost or freeze," explains Dr. Bob Palmer, agronomy support manager for Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., the nation's leading supplier of crop seeds.

Full season hybrids, or corn that was planted extremely late because of the spring deluges, will be hardest hit. Grain yield losses can exceed 30 percent, while digestibility of whole-plant silage may be reduced by 25 percent or more.

Losses in corn grain yield and lowered test weights may depend on the stage of development of the corn when the freeze occurs. The earlier frost occurs before black-layer, the lower the test weights will be. In addition, dry down of frost damaged corn is generally slower than for corn that matures normally. The following table shows that approximate grain yield loss when a severe frost occurs at different stages of development.

There's nothing farmers can do to control frost date, but Palmer says proper management of frost or freeze-damaged crops can minimize the economic losses. The Pioneer agronomist has these recommendations:

* Frost-damaged corn can be harvested as high moisture grain to provide a high-quality livestock feed. The grain should be ground or cracked so it will pack tightly in upright or bunker silos. To prevent spoilage, farmers should consider use of a water-soluble inoculant suited for use in high moisture corn.

* Grain corn that is nearly mature can be harvested for dry grain, but artificial drying will be necessary to prevent spoilage. Proper combine settings are critical. Grain must be removed from the cob without excessive damage. If kernel moisture is above 30 percent, cylinder speed should be set higher and the concave closer to shell kernels off the cob. Below 30 percent moisture, immature frost-damaged corn should be combined with the lowest possible cylinder speed.

* Combination drying probably is the most efficient method for drying wet grain. Rapid, high temperature drying is used to reduce moisture levels to around 23 percent. Grain then is moved to another bin and remaining moisture is removed -- to 15 percent -- using natural air in a low temperature system.

FARM MANAGEMENT

Experience and Education

Compensation rates can be used as incentives to reward workers for experience and/or education. If the training has made the employee more productive, along with making you more money, the wise employer will return a portion of the extra business income to the employee as an incentive for continued growth on the job.

Incentive plans where pay is directly related to worker accomplishments are used by some farmers. These programs must be carefully designed, and work best on key employees who have a high degree of control over the factors upon which the incentive is based.

Perquisites and Fringe Benefits

A perquisite (perk for short) is something a person is customarily entitled to because of the job. It "goes with the territory" like tips for waiters. In the past many farm workers received certain perks such as meals, room and board. Today most workers have freedom from federal income tax withholding requirements, and many receive sides of beef, all the milk they can drink, housing transport, and other perks.

Fringe benefits include social security coverage, health and/or life insurance, paid holidays, vacation and sick leave, holiday presents, retirement program. Some managers may also offer livestock ownership schemes to key employees. These fringes and the perks are all very important parts of an employee's compensation package.

The Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service's, survey of all paid farm workers' wage rate for April 1989 reports 47% of all farm employees received some form of fringe benefit. This year, about 22% received housing. Fringe benefits commonly range from 15 to 35 percent of the value of cash wages. Career farm workers are especially concerned about fringe benefits.

Cash Wages

The survey mentioned above also reports farm workers' wage rate for April 1989 averaged $5.35 per hour, up 35 cents from a year ago. Workers paid on an hourly wage basis earned $5.06 per hour compared to $4.78 in April of 1988. Wage rates for field and livestock workers were $5.18 and $4.71 respectively. Supervisory farmworkers in the Northeast United States received an average hourly rate of $8.01, plus all perks and fringe benefits. Don't use these averages to calculate or judge your employees salary because job competition and the cost of living varies greatly from location to location.

In Summary

"Walk a mile in your employee's shoes." Take time to think through the complex compensation issues, and be sure to put your entire plan on paper. Definitely assign monetary values to all wages, perks and fringe benefits. Clearly communicate to your present and/or future employees the total value of your compensation package. Remember, the monetary wages paid to your employees are very important, but it may just be the everyday working conditions and opportunities for personal growth and development which keep aworker at your job!

Post-Harvest Soil Tests A Smart Management Practice

NEWARK, DE — Farmers can get a jump on the competition and the cold weather by starting a soil testing program as soon as possible this fall. Instead of waiting until the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday seasons, or even spring, when everyone else is thinking "soil test," Dr. J. Thomas Sims, director of the University of Delaware soil testing labratory, advises sampling fields right after harvest.

"By sampling early, you can evaluate your soil's fertility level and consider fertilizer recommendations for next year's crops," Sims says. "This way you'll have adequate time to shop around for the best fertilizer buys."

Farmers who usually sample in the spring will probably note somewhat lower values in their fall tests, he says. "If you switch your sampling time by a large interval," Sims says, "contact your county Extension agent for help in interpreting the test results."

It costs grain growers only $4 per sample to have a soil's pH, phosphorus, potassium, magnesium, calcium, manganese and zinc levels tested. Recommendations from the laboratory are based on the latest research and are specifically designed for Delaware soils and farming practices.

"Regardless of which testing service you use," the soil scientist says, "make sure the fertilizer recommendations you receive are designed for Delaware and not for Pennsylvania or western Maryland, whose soils differ greatly from ours."

been active at the National Pork Congress and has served on the Swine Committee of the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition throughout its existence.

In the youth awards program, Donna MacCauley, Atglen, was named the outstanding FFA girl and Todd Cauffman, Millerstown, is the outstanding FFA boy.

In the 4-H division, Susan Mawhinney, Waynesburg, is the outstanding girl and Andrew Krumpf, Norristown is the outstanding boy.

Boyd Wolff, state ag secretary, brought greetings from Governor Robert Casey and corrected a mistake that had been made in March when a proclamation was issued over the governor's signature designating a "meatout day" in Pennsylvania. Meatout days are consumer protests initiated by animal rights groups in protest of animal agriculture. Wolff said the proclamation was issued without the governor's knowledge by workers who did not know the position of the adminstration.

Reading from a letter from the governor to William Ringler, master, Pennsylvania State Grange, Wolff quoted Gov. Casey as saying: "Every year, thousands of proclamations and citations are issued by branches of state government in order to acknowledge the efforts of particular groups and organizations. In this specific case (meatout proclamation), however, the proclamation released by my office did not and does not represent the position of my administration as it relates to meat production and the agricultural industries that depend on it.

"When I became aware of the proclamation," Gov. Casey's letter said, "I immediately directed that the document be rescinded because of my strong belief that Pennsylvania should do all it can to promote our number one industry--agriculture. It is important to me that you know that I strongly disagree with any suggestion that farmers abuse animals. To the contrary, I cannot imagine a group more dedicated to the health and welfare of farm animals than farmers themselves."

When Ringler was contacted later in the week at his office in Harrisburg, he said he was quite satisfied with the letter. "The governor has a nice tone to his letters and the man did all he could," Ringler said. "I understand how it could have happened and very frankly, he rescinded the proclamation and I have no more problem with it."

In the election of officers, Dennis Grumbine, Myerstown, was elected president; Tony Dobrowsky, Glen Rock, is vice president; James Watkins, State College, 2nd vice president; Robert Kimble, State College, secretary; and Mike Firestine, Womelsdorf, treasurer.

Directors include: Dr. Everett Denlinger, Jim Gallagher, Gerald Hess, Glen Kean, Ray Lehr, Grant Sherritt, Reno Thomas, Lowell Wilson, Eugene Wingert, Vernon Hazlett and Scott Davenport.

Outstanding livestock youth awards go to (l to r):Susan Mawhinney, outstanding 4-H girl; Donna MacCauley, outstanding FFA girl; Todd Cauffman, outstanding FFA boy and Andrew Kumpf, outstanding 4-H boy. Tony Dobrowsky, York County Agent, made the presentations at the Stockmamn's Gala last Friday night.

Chore-Time's ULTRAFLO® feeder for layers, pullets and breeders can free you from your chains

We have probably been too modest up to now about the merits of our new generation ULTRAFLO® cage feeder vs. the old style chain feeders some of our competitors are still trying to sell you. In fact, the only negative comments about our feeder come from our competition, not our customers. So we would like to point out the bare facts:

FEED SAVINGS: On-farm results show a feed savings of ½ lb. per 100 birds per day – over $10,000 per year savings on a 100,000-bird house. Year after year.

TROUBLE-FREE DESIGN: Our feeder has only two moving parts – the one-piece auger plus each drive wheel; their chain has more. Our corners are heavy 12 ga. zinc plated tubing for long life; their corners have a reputation for trouble and short life.

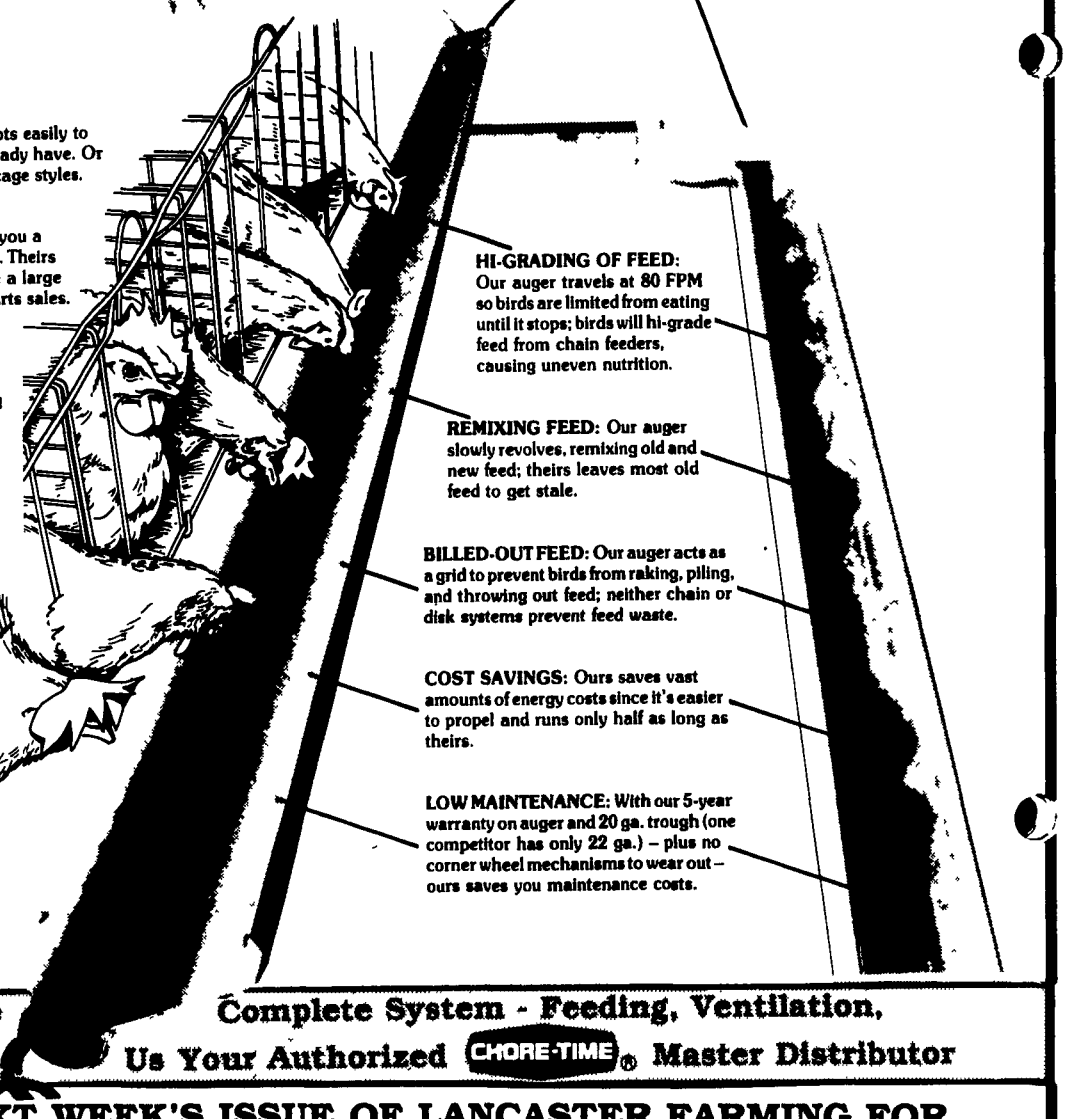
PROVEN DESIGN: Over 10 million birds are already on our feeder worldwide. Also, it was proven in 5 years of on-farm testing before introduction.

EASY ADAPTABILITY: Ours adapts easily to existing cage systems you may already have. Or choose from our wide selection of cage styles.

5-YEAR WARRANTY: Ours gives you a 5-year warranty on auger and trough. Theirs doesn't. In fact, their dealers derive a large percentage of their income from parts sales. Ours don't.

MICROPROCESSOR CONTROL: Our control lets you program feeding time to the second, to match the exact time of one circuit. Control number of feedings, time of each feeding – also 10-second "Stimulation Cycles" between feedings, to minimize separation, and improve your birds' feed intake.

SIMPLE OPERATION: "Push-pull" Power Units with ⅓ or ½ HP motor are located in a cage, have hardened steel gears for trouble-free operation.



HI-GRADING OF FEED: Our auger travels at 80 FPM so birds are limited from eating until it stops; birds will hi-grade feed from chain feeders, causing uneven nutrition.

REMIXING FEED: Our auger slowly revolves, remixing old and new feed; theirs leaves most old feed to get stale.

BILLED-OUT FEED: Our auger acts as a grid to prevent birds from raking, piling, and throwing out feed; neither chain or disk systems prevent feed waste.

COST SAVINGS: Ours saves vast amounts of energy costs since it's easier to propel and runs only half as long as theirs.

LOW MAINTENANCE: With our 5-year warranty on auger and 20 ga. trough (one competitor has only 22 ga.) – plus no corner wheel mechanisms to wear out – ours saves you maintenance costs.

Myer Repeats Manheim Swine Show Win

BY LOU ANN GOOD

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — An estatic Pam Myer described the Manheim swine show on Monday night as "awesome."

"I probably won't be able to sleep," the 17-year-old said as she fingered the grand champion trophy and numerous ribbons for her prize winning swine.

The Manheim Central senior had also won the grand championship title last year, but this year she didn't even plan to enter.

"Two weeks ago I didn't expect them (pigs) to make weight," Pam said. "I put them back on starter feed hoping they'd gain."

They did. In addition to the grand championship, Pam's entries placed as champion heavy weight, topped in two heavy weight classes, a second in the light weight class and she had the champion light weight pair.

Her 236-pound cross bred will go on the sale block on Friday at the Manheim Fairgrounds. Pam won't be shedding any tears even though she works a lot with her pigs to tune up their muscles.

"I can't get attached to them," she said, "I just show to compete."

Pam lives with her parents, Marlin and Marcella Myer on their Manheim farm with its pig, chicken, steer and sheep operation.

Duff George, show judge, said the Manheim swine show was a tough one to judge. The 126 entries, the largest ever for Manheim, had a lot of top pigs according to George, who works for Purina Mills, Shippensburg.

The reserve championship went to Greg Hoover son of Kenneth and Barbara Hoover, Elizabethtown. His light weight gilt was shown by his 11-year-old brother, Matt.

It was the first major win ever for Greg, an FFA student at Manheim Central. He helps his parents with their commercial swine operation where they sell feeder pigs.

The show featured 23 pairs. Ten-year-old Amy Bollinger won the grand champion trophy for her medium weight pair. It was the first major win for Amy, but her sister, Tracy, won last year. The girls, who are friendly competitors, are the daughters of Eugene and Carol Bollinger, Manheim. Both are in fourth grade at Lititz Christian School.

The reserve champion pair was owned by Gerald Boyd, 11. The son of Kerry and Deb Boyd of Ephrata, Gerald a fifth grader at Clay Elementary has achieved top

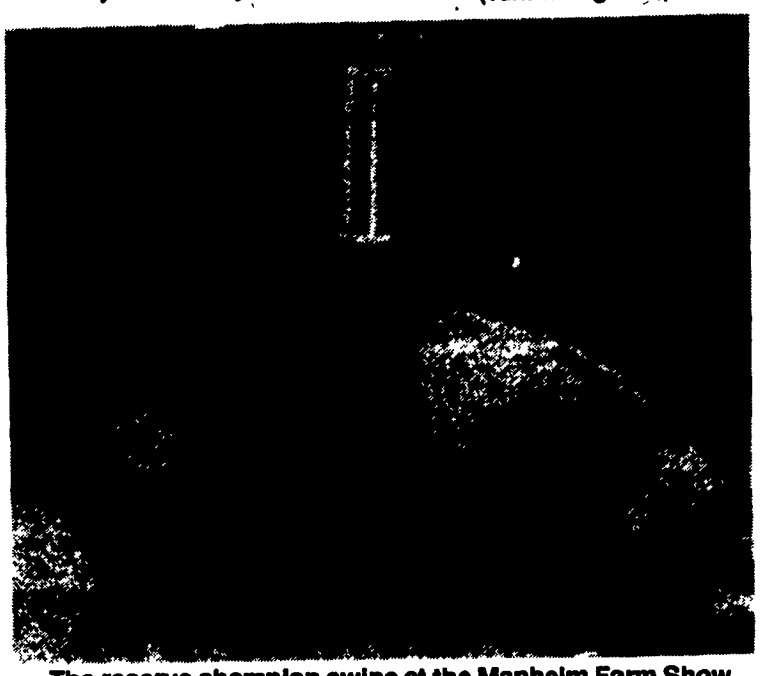
Duff George, judge for the swine show, said the Manheim Farm Show was difficult to judge because there were so many good entries. In the end, Pam Myer was awarded the championship trophy for her crossbred gilt chosen for having the most "completeness."

Champion pairs at the Manheim Show belong to Amy Bollinger, 10, of Manheim. Judge Duff George on right.



The reserve champion swine at the Manheim Farm Show was shown by Matt Hoover for his brother Greg, 18. It was the first major win for the Manheim Central FFA senior. Duff George, judge for the show is on the right.

Gerald Boyd (left), 11, had his buddy Corey Pfautz, 11, help show the reserve champion pair at the Manheim Farm Show on Monday night. Duff George, judge for the swine competition is in the center.

Cambria County Lamb Sold At Record Price

CAMBRIA COUNTY — The Cambria County livestock sale was a night to remember for many 4-H'ers. Bidding was high for champions with the grand champion market lamb owned by Holly Mock of Windber bringing $10.60 per pound. The 108-pound animal was purchased by BiLo Markets of Ebensburg for a total of $1,144.80.

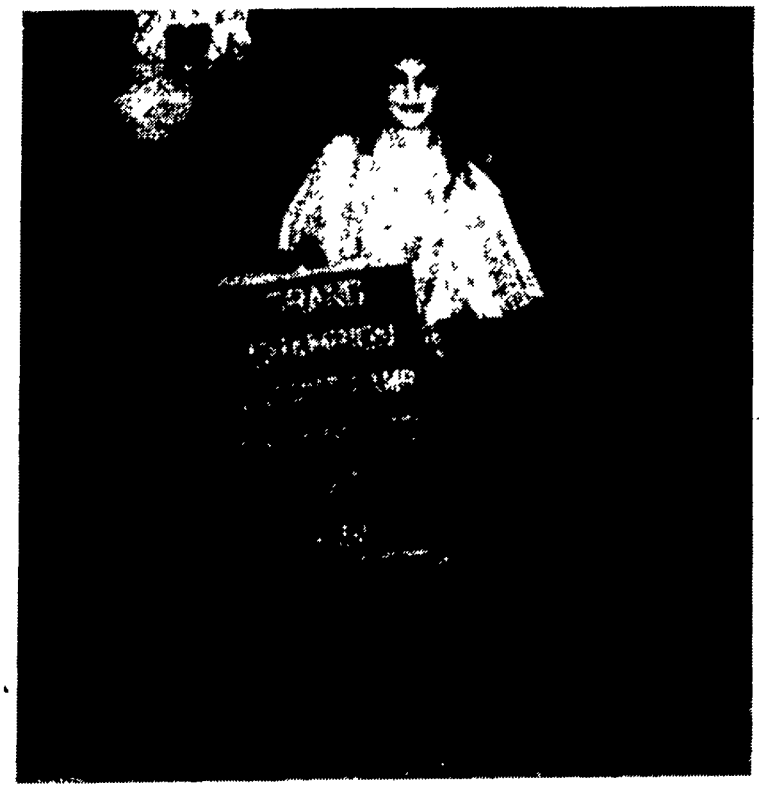
The reserve champion lamb, owned by Mary Jo Brzana of Windber, sold her lamb to Shaw Packing for $5.70 per pound.

Another record-breaking bid came when the grand champion veal calf entered the ring. Lori A. Neibauer of Ebensburg received $10 per pound for her 225-pound calf from Ebensburg Shop & Save Markets. The reserve veal calf, owned by James E. Stoy of Ashville, went for $4.25 per pound to Shaw Packing.

Donna Smithmyer of Patton sold her grand champion market hog to Spangler BiLo Markets at the price of $5 per pound, while Paul Balzano of Gallitzin relinquished his reserve grand champion hog to top bidder Bender Coal Company of Carrolltown for $3 per pound.

The grand champion steer, shown by Kristy Myers of South Fork, was purchased by Shop & Save Markets for $5.60 per pound. Myers then sold her reserve grand champion steer to Hoss's Steak & Seafood for $2 per pound.

Spangler BiLo Markets purchased Donna Smithmyer's grand champion hog for $5 per pound.



Holly Mock of Windber exhibited the grand champion lamb. Top bidder for the champion was BiLo Markets of Ebensburg which paid $10.60 per pound for the 108-pound lamb.

Paul Balzano of Gallitzin sold his reserve grand champion hog to Beder Coal Company for $3 per pound.

The Cambria County champion veal calf was shown by Lori A. Niebauer of Ebensburg. She received a top bid of $10 per pound for the animal from Ebensburg Shop & Save Markets.

Both the grand and reserve grand champion market steers were shown by Kristy Myer of South Fork. The champion brought $5.60 per pound from Shop & Save Markets, while the reserve went to Hoss's Steak & Seafood for $2 per pound.

The reserve champion veal calf was shown by James E. Stoy, who sold it to Shaw Packing for $4.25 per pound.

Penn State Researchers Provide Fire Protection For Livestock

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)— Two Penn State researchers have developed a system that will buy time to save animals caught in livestock building fires.

"We know that most farm building fires ae totally destructive, and that often no one is around when a fire starts," said Dr. Dennis J. Murphy, associate professor of agricultural engineering. "Rural fire departments also have a relatively long response time."

The researchers propose a combination of detector and sprinkler systems that will buy time for removing animals from burning buildings. Currently, few livestock facilities have alarms or sprinklers.

"We want to save the livestock, not necessarily the building," said William C. Arble, a technical specialist for the Pennsylvania Technical Assistance Program at Penn State. "The system creates a life safety refuge until rescue personnel arrive."

In the past, water supply problems, unreliable sensors and expensive equipment have prevented all but race horse facility owners from installing sprinkler systems.

Fire detectors were not reliable for farm applications. The barn atmosphere, filled with dust, moisture and ammonia, caused electronic detectors to sound false alarms or fail.

According to Murphy, new heat sensing detectors are suitable for farm use and can measure temperatures from 135 to 190 F degrees and/or a very fast rise in temperature.

Fire detectors in livestock buildings, just as residential detectors, can be wired to sound an alarm, call the farmhouse, local fire department or a security agency. When the fire is detected, someone is informed and the fire department is on its way.

The sprinkler system protects the animals until someone arrives. Until recently, specifications for sprinkler systems were based on industrial needs, which require very large water mains and enormous amounts of water -- usually more water than available from a rural well system. The systems also were intended to save the building.

A typical livestock building is worth $150,000 while the animals may be worth $1 million, Arble explains. With race horses, a typical 16-horse stable could contain millions of dollars' worth of livestock.

"The sprinkler system we are suggesting is patterned after the National Fire Protection Association's residential sprinkler system," he says. These systems use plastic, rather than iron pipe, have heat-sensitive quick-response sprinkler heads and require less water.

Barns contain wood, straw and animals, but little of the petroleum-based plastics and synthetics that burn intensively and produce toxic fumes. The umbrella-like misty spray from the sprinklers can control this type of fire and minimize the amounts of lethal carbon monoxide in the building.

"Most dairies can meet the 40- to 45-gallon-per-minute water requirement of this sprinkler system," Arble says.

Murphy and Arble have prepared a brochure, "Fire Control in Livestock Buildings," NRAES-39, which will be available this fall from the Publications Distribution Center, 112 Agricultural Administration Building, Penn State, University Park, PA 16802, or the agricultural engineering department.

Genetic Researchers Look Into Maximizing Wool Quality

Animal researchers are looking into the possibility of crossing Australian Merino sheep, known for their fine wool, with Western U.S. breeds that produce a high number of lambs. The goal in crossing Merino with American Rambouillet is to improve domestic wool quality while keeping meat production high. The project includes the University of Idaho, Texas A&M University, University of Wyoming, University of California, and Montana State University. Lancaster County 4-H'ers

Coached by Lancaster County Extension agent Chet Hughes with help from Sue Ann Claudon and Greg Musser, the team placed first in both swine and sheep categories and were second in judging beef.

Individually, Weaver, the son of Ray and Carol Weaver of Ephrata, missed out on first place by only five points. His score of 741 was beaten by Jason Graves of Indiana FFA. However, the score was matched by Grady Harder of Minnesota only to be broken based on their placing in the reasons class. Hess, 18-year-old son of John and Sue Hess of Manheim, placed fifth overall with 735 points with Harnish following close behind with a total of 731 for sixth place.

With his second-place win, Weaver follows in the footsteps of his sister, Emily, who was a member of the winning 1987 team. Also taking after his sister was Musser, the son of Harold and Judy Musser of Elizabethtown. His sister, Tricia, was on the livestock judging team with Emily.

In the specific divisions, Weaver placed second high in sheep and swine and took top honors in reasons. Harnish, the son of Marci and Robert Harnish of Manheim, placed third in sheep and 10th in beef; Hess was eighth in beef, third in swine, and fourth in reasons. Musser placed fifth in reasons.

The Pennsylvania FFA livestock judging team placed eighth in the junior competition.

The University of Illinois livestock judging team won the collegiate division with 4,590 points for the Illini's first KILE championship in 27 years.

Proper Management

* Frost or freeze-damaged corn also can be ensiled to minimize yield and quality losses. The main factor to consider is whole plant moisture. Plants are at their nutritive peak at around 65 percent moisture. Depending on the type of structure in which the silage will be stored, the crop should be harvested at between 60 and 72 percent moisture.

* Silage chopping equipment should be well maintained. Key are sharp knives, a cut length of three-eighths to one-half inch, and properly adjusted blower paddles. A bacterial silage inoculant can help reduce seepage and maintain feed quality.

"There's no way to predict when that first frost will come," Palmer sums up. "But we know that the corn crop is maturing slowly this fall, so it's best for farmers to be prepared with a few options if and when an early cold snap does happen."

PDA Offers Free Marketing Brochures

HARRISBURG — Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff recently reminded food product marketers that they can obtain free listings in marketing guides to be released to the public.

The Department of Agriculture will distribute direct marketing guides at the beginning of the marketing season. The guides will be distributed through tourist information centers, local chambers of commerce, county Extension offices, public libraries, direct mail, and displays.

Registration forms were mailed to direct marketers in August. The first marketing guides will be available to consumers early in 1990. Questions regarding this direct marketing assistance should be directed to Tom Imswiler at 717/783-2323.

Farm Milk Prices Expected To Set Record Highs

BY KARL BERGER
Special Correspondent

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — On the other end of the phone line, Jim Fraher was laughing, saying he needed to go out and buy a new crystal ball.

The highly regarded economist for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative could afford to laugh. True, the forecasts of fall milk prices he made earlier in the year are already off by more than $1 a hundredweight. But at least he was wrong in the right direction for area dairymen.

Propelled by a cheese market that has blown the lid off of traditional expectations, farm milk prices will set record highs for the rest of the year. In September, the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series, the benchmark price used by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to set prices in its nationwide federal order system, soared 73 cents to a September record of $13.10. The 73-cent increase also set a record for a one-month rise and follows a 61-cent rise in August.

The M-W has risen so rapidly, Fraher said, that he's had to rub his eyes when looking at some formerly familiar pricing relationships. For instance, the September price for excess milk in Federal Order 4, $13.18, actually exceeds the July base price of $13.13.

Moreover, given only the further farm price increases implied by current cheese prices, the M-W should peak at $13.75 in October and November, Fraher gamely estimated.

The numbers already translate into record farm milk prices for local dairymen. The September M-W, for instance, means Order 4 will have a Class I milk price of $16.13 in November and Order 2's Class I price will be $15.65. With over-order premiums, Order 4 producers can expect to see a base price for 3.5 percent milk between $15.50 and $16 by the end of the year.

Moreover, the gains—and the market strength that underlies them—may well render somewhat moot the fate of the federal government's support price come January 1, when a decision is due from USDA on whether to impose a 50-cent reduction.

Fraher is among the economists predicting that the M-W, although sure to decline in the early part of 1990, will not get low enough to be affected by the support price.

"I think there's a strong possibility that we won't come near the current support price, never mind a price that could be five cents lower," he said, referring to the government's purchase price for cheese under the support program. In fact, he added, "even with modest increases in milk output, producer prices in 1990 should be equal to or slightly above those for 1989."

If nothing else, the unprecedented gap between the support price (whose official level is $10.35 for milk of average butterfat content) and the M-W has strengthened calls for foregoing the January 1 price cut, which is supposed to be triggered by a USDA estimate that the government will purchase the equivalent of more than 5 billion pounds of surplus milk in 1990. (Because the department currently calculates the surplus on a butterfat basis, government purchases of butter translate into high estimates even though the Commodity Credit Corporation has not been buying any cheese or nonfat dry milk.)

The National Milk Producers Federation recently sent Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter a letter asking him not to make the cut "in view of the support price and the M-W price being farther apart than they've ever been in history," said Dan Lauwers, a lobbyist for the group.

Instead, the federation proposed that the secretary reduce the government's purchase price for butter by 10.5 cents, to $1.10 a pound; freeze its cheese prices at current levels and raise its non-fat dry milk price by five and a half cents. The result, Lauwers said, would protect farm milk prices from a sharp spring decline by stabilizing cheese prices, which essentially determine the current M-W, at a higher level.

Moreover, the reduction in the butter price can be construed as a way of saving the government money in comparison to simply cutting the support price and reducing product prices accordingly. For this reason, Lauwers said, the Senate Agricultural Committee adopted the proposal as one of the savings measures in the reconciliation legislation Congress is now considering. Its inclusion in that package represents the best chance the industry has to avoid the cut, he added.

Collegiate Look Tops KILE Lead Line

BY VAL VANTASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

Harrisburg, (Dauphin Co.) — "Now this is a sheep show," one young admirer, exclaimed while watching the Keystone Invitational Livestock Exposition's Lead-Line. The contest was held Saturday at the Farm Show Complex. The combination of high quality sheep and lovely young ladies along with dapper gentlemen proved to be a real crowd pleaser, drawing more than 200 people to ringside for the fashion event of the day.

The 34 entrants from five states made a strong statement for the versatility of their favorite fabric wool. There were wool shorts, vests, socks, sweaters, hats, skirts, shawls and even wool for evening wear. Despite tough choices, the judges selected the collegiate look of Jane Endslow as the top in the lead line senior division.

Endslow, who was making her second appearance in the KILE competition, was surprised by the placing. "I didn't even place last year," she said. She shared her win with a yearling Hampshire belonging to Lewis Hampshires. "I have Suffolks, but you have to show a yearling here and I didn't have one," Endslow explained. "Doing lead line makes me really nervous," she added.

She didn't look nervous as she stepped onto the platform to showoff her outfit. Dressed in a navy-and-cream plaid skirt made of 100% wool, a creamed-colored blouse and double-breasted navy sweater also of 100% wool, she smiled confidently at the judges. The ensemble was topped off with a cassidy touring coat, red wool scarf and cream colored hat again of 100% wool.

Endslow, currently the vice president of the Lancaster County Woolies also looked confident and stylish leading her ewe around the ring. Endslow of Marietta is a 12th grade student at Mount Calvary Christian School.

Susan Wise of Danville, Ohio, placed second with a skirt and jacket combination. The plaid skirt of 100% pendleton wool was made for her by her grandparents, Charles and Edith Wise. Susan, an accomplished sheep showman, won her lead class at the Ohio State Fair. She will be showing her Suffolks at the national event in Louisville in November.

Third place went to Stacy Suffel, Carlisle, who wore a 100% wool jersey dress in peacock green. Stacy made her outfit with the help of her aunt, Betty Barrick also of Carlisle. Blush, Stacy's Hampshire yearling, was decked out in a peacock green corsage for the occasion.

Stacy, a member of the Cumberland County 4-H Club, owns her own Hampshire and Dorset flocks and will be representing the PA Hampshire Association as a Junior Ambassador at the National Futurity in Louisville this November.

While the junior contestants tended to be a bit more tentative in modeling their outfits, the competition was as tough as in the senior division. Jaeme Lee Griffin wore an authentic handmade skirt and shawl honoring the origin of her yearling Tunis.

The breed dates back more than 3,000 years to Tunisia in Africa. Her sheep, Prissie, also wore a shawl, complementing her mistress's outfit. Both the sheep and Jaeme Lee Griffin of Whitehouse Station, New Jersey, captured first in the junior division of Lead-Line held at the Keystone International Livestock Expo. Both Griffin and her yearling Tunis wore authentic handmade shawls with beadwork from Africa.

Taking second place in KILE's Lead-Line junior division was Rachal Lawrence of Whitehall, Maryland. The Maryland winner wore a teal suit made by Lawrence.

Stacy Suffel of Carlisle, Pa. placed third in the Keystone International Livestock Expo Lead-Line senior division.

Marlinton, West Virginia's Christine Baxter took fourth place in the Lead-Line junior division.

Patrick Zagrodnichek of Clarksburg, Pa. captured third place in Lead-Line junior division at Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Jane Endslow of Marietta, Pa. topped the senior division of the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Lead-Line competition. This was Endslow's second appearance in the Lead-Line. Thirty-four contestants from five states competed in the 1989 show.

Homestead Notes

Susan Wise of Danville, Ohio captured second place in the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Lead-Line senior division. Wise also won her lead class at the Ohio State Fair.

Nothing runs like a Deere™

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Ahhhh, glorious October! My favorite month of the year.

Month of brisk breezes and bright leaves. Month of crisp, clear, moonlit nights and frosty mornings sparkling the meadow with icy sprinkles. Gone is the heat, the humidity, buzzing mosquitos and hordes of flies (well, most of 'em, anyway.)

Harvesting of corn and beans, and planting of spring grain crops, keeps the fieldwork pressure steady. Still, I begin to sense subtle hints of another urge, a primeval draw with roots way back to man's beginnings.

Mealtime converstion is peppered with references to licenses, season openings, clay birds, shells, compound bow weights. Our youngest affirms that, yes, a camo-colored thermal sweatshirt would indeed be a timely addition to his outdoor wardrobe.

Still, over the years, there has been a shift in emphasis hereabouts on preference of seasons to take to the woods to wait and watch, to track and trail.

October's archery season, for instance, usually finds mountain environments far more hospitable to parking one's posterior somewhere in or under a big, old oak or hickory or pine, than does December. Indeed — the woods are warmer, less likely to play host to a blinding blizzard, or to an ice storm sending branches crashing around one's head.

Personally, the idea of trekking around windswept mountain wilds in early December leaves me cold. October's golden beauty seems far more appealing.

My October visits along to mountain wilds, though, are strictly for goofing off — no hunting. I hunt, track and trap big game every day and have no intention of doing it for recreation.

My elusive quarry slips unseen from field to field, farm to farm, allowing only an occasional glimpse from a distance. Season is open year round, and the licenses are issued at the county courthouse.

I frequently stalk the game with questions and messages, generally trudging back to the house empty-handed. And even though you can expect "it" to be in a certain spot at a certin time, the moment you stalk "it" with an emergency is when "it" will have dashed off somewhere to pick up a part.

It quickly learns to feed at feeders, mostly resembling the kitchen table. Anything in the cakes-pies-cookies line is a sure-fire, catch-em bait. Baked ham, pizza or chocolate likewise generate quick appearances at our kitchen feeder.

Tracks and droppings are plentiful, making this quarry fairly easy to trail. The tracks are easily read, usually left in grimy, black machinery grease, shaped like fingerprints, and liberally scattered over white-painted doors, woodwork, and creme-colored phone. On occasion, tracks of the residue can be found splattered around and over the soap dish at the kitchen sink or even the front door window.

Droppings take various forms: trails of hay dirt through the office, corn dust on the chair cushions, husks of manure on the basement floor. Other surefire signs are scatterings of hats so grubby the dirt obscures their colors and advertising logos, damp sw[illegible] shirts, and jeans thick enough with shop grease they can almost walk themselves to the washing machine.

You can try calling "it," like you do turkeys for instance, but "it" probably won't answer anyway. In the years of my "hunting" experience, no surefire call for this game has ever proved reliable.

However, just give up the search, sit down on an easy chair, and pick up something to read. Instantly, the game will materialize from the wilds of the farmstead, sounding its most familiar call.

"What's for lunch?"

Happy hunting.

Collegiate Look

her ten-year-old mistress sported beautiful bead work from Africa. The spectators picked Griffin out as a favorite early in the competition and there was a lot of cheering when she was selected as the winner.

Griffin, a fourth grader at Whitehouse School, shares ownership of the Tunis with her sister Carmen. She also owns and exhibits Romneys and has received champion ram and ewe honors at state and county shows in Hunterton, NJ. Griffin, who lives in Whitehouse Township in New Jersey, also studies violin.

Rachel Lawrence, White Hall, Md., placed second with her yearling ewe, Hopeful. Lawrence bought the animal at KILE last year. Lawrence was wearing a teal 100% wool flannel suit that she made herself.

The third-place award went to a dapper 12-year-old, Patrick Zagrodnichek of Clarksburg. Wearing a rich looking suit of 100% wool made by family friend Janet Irwin, Zagrodnichek appeared to be one of the most confident contestants in the junior division. A seventh grade honors student, Patrick has been a member of the 4-H for five years and has exhibited dairy animals and market lambs. He led a Southdown sheep owned by Tim Bishop.

Results are as follows:

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Apple cake can be plain or fancy; likewise, baked apples. Try either or both of today's luscious apple recipes. Each may be served as is. Or each may be topped with sinfully rich Rum-Raisin Sauce.

The fastest of the two to micro-cook is Spicy-Lemon Micro-Baked Apples. Baking-type apples — Rome Beauty is a good kind — are microwaved with a spicy-lemon sauce in about 7 minutes. The cover is plastic wrap to hold in heat and steam. The method used in this recipe is a little different from the way I usually micro-bake apples. This recipe calls for added liquid, so a plastic-wrap cover works best to steam the apples. This method produces a larger amount of sauce or juice than my method. My usual method calls for a sweet filling and no added liquid. It makes a baked apple with just a little sauce. A waxed-paper cover is best for this last method.

Spicy Apple Cake is an old-fashioned hearty cake. Start microwaving on Medium power and finish on High for best results. For even cooking, rotate the dish about 2 times during cooking. Set the dish on a microwave trivet or an upside-down saucer to help get the center done. Cool the cake on a flat surface to ensure the bottom is fully cooked.

For Rum-Raisin Sauce, raisins are plumped by heating them with rum (or water and rum flavoring) for a minute in a tightly covered container. The rest of the sauce is quickly micro-cooked until ingredients thicken slightly. Start with minimum times and stir when recipe directs to prevent curdling. Sauce is quite thin, but thickens as it cools. When reheating, also be careful not to overheat.

Spicy-Lemon Micro-Baked Apples

6 medium Rome Beauty apples (4-5 ounces each)
¼ cup water or apple juice
¼ cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon

Core and pare top third of apples; place in a microwave-safe baking dish or custard cups. Stir together remaining ingredients and pour over apples. Cover with vented plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 6 to 10 minutes, rotating dish and basting apples after 3 minutes. When done, apples should be barely tender. Let stand 2 minutes before removing cover. Serve warm or cold, spooning juices over each serving. Makes 6 servings.

Each serving: 113 calories, 0 protein, 0 fat, 29g carbohydrate, 1mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Spicy-Lemon Micro-Baked Apples With Rum-Raisin Sauce: Prepare apples as above, except omit sugar. Drain and serve warm or cold topped with warm sauce.

Each serving: 185 calories, 0 protein, 6g fat, 31g carbohydrate, 84 mg sodium, 33mg cholestrol.

Rum-Raisin Sauce

½ cup raisins
3 tablespoons light rum*
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
½ cup milk
1 egg beaten
¾ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¾ teaspoon grated lemon peel

Place raisins and rum in a microwave-safe measure; cover with plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 1 minute; set aside. Place butter and sugar in a microwave-safe 1-quart measure. Microwave (High) 1 to 1½ minutes or until butter melts. Stir in milk; microwave (High) 1½ to 2 minutes or until just boiling. Stir small amount of hot sugar mixture into egg; return to sugar mixture. Microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 2 to 2½ minutes or until slightly thickened, stirring after each 1 minute. Do not overcook or sauce will curdle. Stir in raisin mixture, cinnamon and lemon peel. Keep covered in refrigerator. (Sauce thickens as it cools.) Serve at room temperature or slightly warm. Makes about 2 cups.

Each 2-tablespoon serving: 102 calories, 0 protein, 6g fat, 10g carbohydrate, 83 mg sodium, 33mg cholesterol.

To warm sauce: Microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts), allowing 1½ to 2 minutes for each cup of sauce. Do not overheat or sauce will separate.

* Three tablespoons water and ¼ teaspoon rum extract can be substituted for rum.

Spicy Apple Cake

1¼ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
⅔ cup packed brown sugar
¼ cup oil
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
2 cups finely chopped unpeeled apples (about 2 medium apples)
¼ cup finely chopped pecans or walnuts
Topping (below)

Soup Up Your Menu With These Steaming Recipes

Soups should be an important part of your weekly menu. Not only are they nutritious but also they are economical. Many leftovers can be incorporated into a tasty soup.

The water in which meats, fish, and vegetables are simmered, as well as the liquids from canned vegetables contain much of the precious vitamins and minerals and should be used as a liquid in the preparation of soups. They can be stored in the refrigerator until ready to use.

In soups, use inexpensive meat cuts, which have essentially the same nutritive values as the higher-priced cuts. To obtain full flavor from soup, always simmer or boil them in closely covered kettles.

Cook onion in butter until transparent, add chicken stock, and slowly add milk. Add all seasonings, except sherry. Stir in crabmeat and simmer 15 minutes. In today's high-tech cooking world of Cuisinarts, gas grills and quartz top cooking surfaces, you wouldn't think that a cut of meat could confuse a cook. But, market research shows the average consumer is often puzzled over selection and cooking methods for veal.

To help end the confusion, a new user-friendly publication from the Meat Board Test Kitchens, "Facts About Versatile Veal", answers the most-asked questions concerning selection, care and storage and nutritional value, and gives step-by step cooking methods for different cuts of veal.

The Recipe booklet can be obtained from the Meat Board Test Kitchens, Dept. FAVV, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60611. Please include 50 cents to cover postage and handling.

Calendar Benefits Blind

LANCASTER (Lancaster) — Among the many scenic attractions in Lancaster County are the 30 covered bridges remaining today. These bridges, found throughout the county, synthesize craftsmanship, art and utility. They are being preserved through the efforts of those who love and appreciate their natural beauty and their homage to a more simple past.

In a unique cooperative effort three local craftsmen have combined their talents to preserve these bridges in another way. They have produced a calendar illustrated with original pen and ink drawings of several of the covered bridges, rendered as they appear today.

Frank and Nancy Shaub, owners and operators of Frank Shaub, Jr., Printing in Manheim, were in the habit of giving art reproductions as gifts to their business associates. But Frank, a member of the Lions Club, was also brainstorming some way to assist the Lancaster County Association for the Blind, one of the Lions' service recipients. Together with his wife Nancy, Frank hit on the idea of providing a scenic calendar for the Blind Association to sell as a fund-raiser.

A friend recommended Lancaster artist and graphics designer G. Robert (Bob) Wagner, a partner of Ga5 Graphics Art Shop, to provide the art for the calendar. (Readers may be familiar with Bob's popular poster "Covered Bridges of Lancaster County.") Bob spent 20-30 hours drawing each of the bridges in the calendar, and the technical excellence of the renderings is a tribute to his appreciation of these historic treasures.

A unique aspect of this calendar is that it has not only raised funds for the blind, but it is designed so that it can be used by low-vision or vision-impaired people. Each date is 11/16" tall, printed in solid black. There are no boxes around the dates to distract the eye, and holidays are found in the upper or lower left-hand corner for clarity. Nancy Shaub, in consultation with the Blind Association, came up with these specifications, as well as the choice of paper, a off-white non-glare surface for easy reading.

With the help of volunteers, the Shaubs printed and donated 1,600 calendars in the past two years and the Blind Association has sold every one. This hefty effort by two small Lancaster County businesses has been such a success that the calendars are being marketed outside the county for the first time this year. The Blind Association will jointly invest in the larger effort and recruit the help of sight-impaired workers in the coordination and shipment of calendar orders. To obtain The Covered Bridge Calendar write: The Lancaster County Association for the Blind, Dept. A, 244 North Queen Street, Lancaster, Pa. 17603. Include $7 plus $.50 to defray the costs of shipping and handling. (For information on ordering bulk quantities call the Blind Association at (717) 291-5951). Place your order now to receive your calendar by mid-November.

Crystal And Her Chicken Project

BY CRYSTAL BRECHBILL

EDENVILLE (Franklin Co.) — This summer Mommy and I did a special project together — broiler chickens!

We got 85 peeps from a hatchery. On the way home, I tried to peek inside the box and hold one. They were so cute and fuzzy!

When we got home, we took them upstairs in the old chicken house. I dipped their beaks in the water and the feed so they would understand where to get feed and water. The waterers are big canning jars turned upside down with a special saucer underneath.

At first, the chicks were in a fortress that Daddy made out of hay bales. We hung a heat lamp over their pen and they all huddled under it. We left the lamp on all night.

Twice a day, I carried the waterers to Mommy to clean out and refill. Sometimes Mommy let me stay in the chicken house and play with the chicks for a little while, as long as I didn't squeeze them too tight.

I had to shut all the doors, because the cat would love to get in if she could!

The little chicks got wing feathers in about two days. The hay bale fortress seemed to get smaller and smaller. Finally, we let them out into the larger pen made of chicken wire. They didn't like it at first and lots of them stayed along the wall. But soon they got used to it and ran all over the pen to get their feed and water and to scratch in the straw.

After this, they grew up very fast. They got all covered with feathers. I helped Mommy clean up an old feeder that was lots bigger because they needed more room to eat. In the wash house we found an old automatic waterer that used to be Grandpa's. Daddy hooked it up, and we didn't need the canning jars anymore.

After I taught all the chicks how to eat and drink, it was time to play with them! They are so soft and fuzzy!

By the time the chicks are eight days old, they are starting to get wing and tail feathers. They seem to get bigger every day.

When the chickens were six weeks old, Mommy hurt her leg. That evening, she asked me, "Do you think you could feed the chickens all by yourself?"

I said, "Yes!"

It was hard to reach into the barrel to scoop up the feed. I went back and forth to the feeder lots of times, until it was all filled up. The chickens were very happy that I fed them. And I remembered to close all the doors.

One day, some of the roosters started to crow. Daddy said, "It will soon be time for those chickens to be butchered."

Mommy and Daddy weighed some of the chickens when they were nine weeks old. They weighed over eight pounds. That meant it was time to send the chickens away to be cleaned.

Daddy went into the pen and caught them by their legs. The chickens hated to be picked up and tried to beat us with their wings. But we put them in crates on the back of the truck. My job was to open and shut the lids at the right time.

I was a little sad when the chickens left, but then I thought about how much I love to have chicken for supper!

The chickens are five weeks old now and growing fast. They eat lots of feed!

I help to feed and water the chickens. They drink LOTS of water on hot and humid days.

I opened and closed the crates so Daddy could load the chickens.

Pointers On Pots And Pans

Today's cookware comes in a variety of shapes, sizes, colors, and finishes, and is made from many types of metal and combinations of materials. Expected usages should play a large role in the selection of a type of cookware. Here is a list of some of today's most popular types, for both the range top and the oven.
Cooktop:

Aluminum: Spreads heat quickly and evenly. Best for frying, braising and pot roasts. Comes in many weights, but a medium to heavy weight generally gives the best performance.

Cast Iron: Slow to change temperature and holds heat. It is a very durable metal, but is subject to discoloring. Good for browning, frying and stewing.

Copper (Tin-Lined): Quick to change temperature and holds heat. Great for gourmet cooking, wine sauces and egg cookery. Tin lining can wear thin with use. Cookware must be re-tinned to avoid poisonous reaction between the heated copper pan and the food.

Glass Ceramic: Slow to change temperature. Best for long, low heat cooking with a liquid.

Porcelain Enamel: Porcelain enamel over steel is long lasting, stain and scratch resistant. How well it heats depends upon the type of steel used. Best for cooking soups and other types of liquids.

Stainless Steel: Usually combined with other metals such as aluminum, copper and carbon steel. Other materials make the cookware heat more quickly, while the stainless steel makes it durable. Best for frying, sauces, soups, vegetables and egg cookery.

Oven Cookware

Aluminum: Absorbs heat faster than glass or steel and conducts heat well. Gives delicate browning and tender crusts. Best for cakes, muffins, quick breads, cookies and roasting.

Ovenproof glass/pottery: Absorbs and holds heat well, so oven temperatures should be lowered 25 degrees F. Gives a deep, crusty brown top. Best for casseroles.

Teflon dull or darkened cookware: Absorbs heat quicker than shiny cookware. Lower oven temperature 25 degrees F. except for pastry. Good for pies and other foods baked in pastry shells.

SOUR MILK FOR USE IN BAKING

Do you know that pasteurized milk will not sour because the kind of bacteria necessary are not present. Instead all pasteurized dairy products become putrid and should be thrown away. Any bacteria present would be contaminants and may include those which might cause food poisoning. In addition, the food made from spoiled pasteurized milk will probably have the putrid taste from the milk. For the best quality and flavor of fluid milk buy and use milk before the 10-day open date expires. This applies to whole, lowfat, skim, chocolate and cream products.

When a recipe calls for sour milk, use buttermilk, or replace two tablespoons of good milk with two tablespoons of lemon juice or vinegar. The term sour milk should have been deleted from recipes a generation or more ago. Replace it with buttermilk whenever possible. Unless otherwise stated, buttermilk will contain less than 0.5% milkfat.

"Mommy, where does milk come from?"

Now every city kid has the chance to learn at an early age what any country kid could tell him or her -- it comes from milk cows!

Jubilee is the new dairy cow at the Philadelphia Children's Zoo. She is a gift to the zoo from Dairy Council, Inc., Southampton, PA. Atlantic Dairy Coopreative and Pennwell Farms.

It was a special occasion when Jubilee was shown off to the people who gave her to the zoo. Meeting the new milk cow are: (left to right) Jan B. Stanton, Executive Director, Dairy Council, Inc.; Robert B. McSparran, President of the Board, Dairy Council, Inc. and Atlantic Dairy Cooperative; and Penrose Hallowell, Pennwell Farms.

The Philadelphia Children's Zoo has scheduled milking demonstrations on a regular basis for all of its younger patrons. According to officials, this is one of the zoo's most popular events.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Fall is a time of preparation for the winter season. We harvest and store up food for ourselves and the animals here on our dairy farm. The men make plans to fill the big silos and the corn crib. I harvest the edible soybeans, dig potatoes and pull the peanut stalks and hang them up to dry. The last beans and tomatoes will soon be picked. And this year, I'll have an abundant supply of sweet, mild Chinese cabbage. It can be used like lettuce in salads, shredded for slaw or stir-fried.

This has been a good year for gathering nuts. There are so many hickory nuts that our many squirrels cannot carry them all away. The black walnuts cover the ground and I get a backache picking them all up. Picking them up is only a small part of the job of getting nutmeats for cookies. The hulls must be removed and then the nuts are allowed to dry before they are cracked open. Some people actually enjoy picking the nutmeats out of the shells. I guess I'm one of them.

Our middle daughter and her family visited us from Atlanta, Georgia, last week. Their daughter, Elizabeth, is 13-months-old and walks quite well. But, she didn't see a step down into our kitchen and she fell and got a small cut on her face. They were able to visit several friends in our area during their stay in Lancaster County. Judy found a place to buy reasonably priced natural-colored wool to make an afghan and her husband bought several train sets for Christmas.

Now that they're gone it seems a bit quiet here but I'm sure I'll find things to do to keep me busy.

Have a Cranbarrel Of Fun At Cranberry Festival

CHATSWORTH, NJ — Have a CRANBARREL of fun at the sixth annual Chatsworth Cranberry Festival, Saturday, October 21, at Sunday, October 22; open 10:00 a.m. until dusk, held at the Cranberry Crossroads of Rtes. 532 and 563, capital of the Pine Barrens.

Often called red gold, the harvest of cranberries has been measured in barrels since cranberry cultivation began in New Jersey's pine woods around 1835. Festival visitors can view the colorful harvest by taking a bog tour. A harvest tour schedule and reservation form is available by writing Box 331, Chatsworth, New Jersey 08019 or calling 609/387-7463.

Creating a Cranberry Tradition is a theme woven throughout the Fest's contests for the best-decorated house or business, the best-dressed vendor, and the most attractive booth. Prizes are given to the winning cranberry recipes, as well as to arts and crafts with a cranberry motif. A Pine Barrens photography contest and the Cranberry Flower and Landscape Show are visual gems. "Cranberry Crossroads", the Flower and Landscape Show, is staged by the Medford Lakes Garden Club, and includes arrangements in cranberry hues.

Antiques, along with old-time engines and cranberry-sorting machinery are on display. On Sunday, October 22, antique car judges argue with intensity over the correct shade of cranberry while selecting the most-cranberry-colored car and truck at the Antique Car Show. Competition is also keen in the contest for the Biggest and Smallest Cranberry. Festival goers can pick their favorite shape cranberry from over twenty varieties on display and even taste them if they wish.

True to Piney lifestyle, dancing and singing aling with Pine Needle music will be played by the Pineconers, the Pinelands Dulcimer Society, Country Is, Down River, and others. The Jersey Devil and his friends, the little cranberries, along with 1880's bog workers and highwheel bicyclemen will welcome festival guests. Cranberry lovers are asked to wear cranberry-colored clothing.

Cranberry Festival sponsors include the American Cranberry Growers Association, Jersey Fresh, and Ocean Spray. Call Chatsworth Club II - (609) 894-9232 or (609) 859-9701 for information, or write Box 331, Chatsworth, NJ 08019. Look for the Red School House signs to guide you to parking at the school for a $2 donation.

Safe Lunches If You Follow These Lessons

"Children with super-hero lunchboxes aren't the only ones carrying food away from home. College students are hauling food back to the dorm, and busy adults are trying to save time and money by taking their own 'executive lunchbags' to work," says Josephine Kotch, Extension Agent, Family Living, Luzerne County.

Here are some answers to food-in-transit questions:

Q. My roommates and I often store lunchmeat and milk on the ledge outside our dorm window. But I've heard this isn't a good idea. Why not? It gets cold out there!

A. Just how long could you count on the temperature staying cold, which for food safety purposes means 40 degrees Fahrenheit or below? Even if you had a thermometer on the ledge it would't help, since you can't be there every minute to monitor the situation. Also, buildings radiate heat, making the sill warmer than the outside temperature.

Finally, if you use a metal box to protect food from birds, animals, and the folks in the dorm room next door, the box could also act as an oven in direct sunlight.

Q. There's a small refrigerator in my office. Many of my colleagues use it so it gets crowded, and it usually feels warm inside. How can I tell if the refrigerator is keeping my ham sandwiches cold enough to stay safe?

A. The colder the food is kept, the less chance bacteria has to grow. Therefore, to make sure your refrigerator is providing good protection against bacterial growth, check it with an appliance thermometer. It should register 40 degrees or lower.

Q. I like to take a thermos of homemade chicken soup to work for lunch. Is that safe -- or do I have to eat my lunch by 9:45 a.m.?

A. A clean, well-functioning thermos can keep your hot food at a safe temperature for several hours. Check the seal around the stopper to make sure it fits tightly to retain the heat.

Then, right before filling the thermos, clean it with boiling water. And be sure to bring the soup to a boil before pouring it in. Obviously, this will keep the temperature as high as possible until you're ready to eat it.

If you keep your food above 140 degrees F -- hot to the touch -- it should stay safe. And discard any leftovers.

Building a new fence requires tearing down a lot of old before the task can be accomplished.

Couple, Bored With Retirement, Returns To Farming

BY LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

DUTCH CORNER (Bedford Co.) — Louise and Paul Long have spent most of their married lives farming.

Marriage and farming were a partnership to them and they both worked hard at maintaining and profiting from their 342 acres located in beautiful Bedford Valley where they milked 85 head of registered Holsteins.

Then, at ages 60 and 61, Paul and Louise sold their farm and decided to retire. Buying a home in the nearby town of Bedford, they settled down for a life of relaxation.

"But, Paul just couldn't sit and do nothing," Louise laughs. "First he got a job as a janitor, then he tried washing cars, and then he went back to being a janitor. But, all he really wanted to do was farm."

This past summer, Paul and Louise bought a 257-acre farm in Dutch Corner, a well known farming area in Bedford County.

"We had to," Louise laughs. "We were spending every spare minute we had driving around look for a farm. We just weren't happy living the city life."

Paul and Louise are working long hours to complete the barn remodeling before cold weather and the arrival of the new beef cattle.

Louise is quick to admit that Paul carries the heaviest load in the farming venture. In 1968, she lost her foot due to a battle with a corn harvester. Because she insisted she had to continue milking, the doctors performed a Symes operation which allowed her to bend at the ankle and continue her farm chores.

However, it was shortly after the accident that Louise developed serious arthritis which has continued to plague her ever since. "Strange as it may seem," she says, "I still get pains in the foot I no longer have."

Small in stature, but a fighter, Louise keeps up her spirits despite the pain and does her best at helping with the new farm work.

The Longs do not consider having milk cows again, but the Dutch Corner location with a large farm pond and bubbling stream coupled with wide open pastures will allow for a substantial herd of beef cattle.

"So far our venture has been all work and no pay," Paul laughs. "But that's okay, we didn't expect it to be different. And we are so much enjoying life again."

The Longs have clipped and cleaned up the meadows and fields and are presently working at constructing new fencing which will allow the beef cattle to graze. They are also doing some barn remodeling and plan to paint the weathered gray boards an attractive color.

"The barn is solid," Paul says. "It just needs a little repair work."

The Other Side Of The Cholesterol Story

BY KAY ZEOSKY
National Dairy Chairperson

TURIN, NY — The next time you go to a party, or a family get-together of some sort, check your watch when you walk in and count how many minutes pass before someone starts talking about their cholesterol. If I were a bookmaker, I'd lay odds that you wouldn't wait any more than ten minutes. It's astounding -- perfectly normal people who used to ask you about your kids, sports, or the weather, find it extremely difficult to discuss anything except their cholesterol levels. All of us know a few people who have had by-passes. One surgeon brought us a piece of the filled artery that was removed from my mother-in-law. It felt like soft rubber with some chips in it that reminded me of what I sometimes scrape out of the bottom of my teakettle.

I was all geared up to find out the latest on cholesterol, so I called our nearest "Healthy Heart" program for additional information. Carol Lewis, the director, told me that just changing from butter to oleo is not the benefit that a lot of people perceive it to be. When oleo is changed to the same consistency as butter, it is much more highly saturated. Tub, or softer, oleo would be lower in cholesterol. She also urges people not to avoid dairy products. With the huge problem of osteoporosis in our society, it is extremely hard to fill our needs for calcium without dairy products.

Then I headed for the nearest college library to do some research. Those people who do have a problem with their cholesterol have got their work cut out for them trying to decide what is actually in that package of food they just picked up off the shelf.

I found that our labeling laws need a LOT of work! Under the existing regulations, a claim about cholesterol does not require the labeling of fatty acids. Thus a product that has "CHOLESTEROL FREE" spread across the label can be high in saturated fats. This is pretty confusing. I also found that a product can say "100% VEGETABLE OIL" and still contain highly saturated tropical oils such as palm, palm-kernel, or coconut oil, as well as other oils saturated by hydrogenation. The information about nutrition per serving can be adjusted by the manufacturer, since he can decide what constitutes a serving, as well as how many servings are contained in the box.

While muddling around there, I came across the September issue of The Atlantic Monthly with the words, "THE CHOLESTEROL MYTH -- Lowering Your Cholesterol is Next to Impossible With Diet, And Often Dangerous With Drugs -- And it Won't Make You Live Any Longer" splashed across the front. The feature story, which used most of the issue, was taken from a book entitled Heart Failure written by Thomas J. Moore and soon to be published by Random House Inc. If you can find it in your library, it is VERY interesting.

Many years ago the Framingham researchers selected 912 men and women and tried to match the cholesterol levels in their diets with the cholesterol levels in their blood. They were surprised to realize that they could find no such relationship. In fact, 40 years after the study began, the mortality rate was re-examined. The deaths from other causes of the low cholesterol level group mostly offset any incidence of heart attacks. The researchers, in fact, said that people whose cholesterol levels are declining may be at special risk. "After 50 years the association of mortality with cholesterol values is confounded by people whose cholesterol levels are falling -- perhaps due to diseases predisposing to death." That statement never got a lot of publicity.

William C. Taylor led a team of researchers and physicians at Harvard. They have put together results of the Framingham study and a Multiple Risk Factor Intervention Trial (MR. FIT) done by the Task Force on Arteriosclerosis, and announced that for people without other risk factors such as smoking or high blood pressure, "we calculate a gain in life expectancy of three days to three months from a lifelong program of cholesterol reduction." How do you decide when you are 30 what that extra month of life is worth at age 75? They also felt they might be overstating the benefits of cholesterol reduction because they do not know whether limiting cholesterol intake would increase other risks. These results were published in the Annals of Internal Medicine in 1987.

Moore states that daily treatment of 2,000 men with severely elevated cholesterol for seven and a half years may have lowered the chances of a non-fatal heart attack from eight to seven percent, but it did not improve life expectancy at all.

At one time, cholesterol was suspected of high rates of colon cancer. It turned out that the cancer patients had, instead, very low levels. In 1971, Morton Lee Pearce and Seymour Dayton reported in The Lancet an excess of cancer deaths in a diet trial using diets high in polyunsaturated fats. Similar findings happened in 1978 in experiments done by the World Health Organization. By 1980, French researchers studied 7,603 male government employees. As the cholesterol levels fell below 200 the incidence of cancer climbed steadily. They felt that it "in all probability reflects the advance of the clinical course of cancer." In 1987 the National Health Nutrition and Examination Survey of 12,488 men and women, the men with the lowest cholesterol levels were more than twice as likely to be diagnosed with cancer than those with the highest cholesterol levels. Michael F. Oliver, a British heart researcher asks, "How much cholesterol can be depleted from cell membranes over so many years without alteration of their function?" Could those cells then admit carcinogens?

A cholesterol lowering drug was given to 1,906 men at extremely high risk of heart attack for 7.4 years. There were fewer heart attacks, but there was no effect on life expectancy. Moore says a total of $23 million in drugs may have prevented 36 heart attacks. That's $647,205 per heart attack forestalled.

Many tests are highly inaccurate. Walt Bogdanich, a Wall Street Journal reporter sent blood samples to five different laboratories. The results placed

Retired Couple

The former owners of the farm still live in the brick farm house. Louise thinks she will be content to continue to live in town and commute to the country. Paul, on the other hand, says, "I believe I might like to live out here once everything is completed."

Louise smiles, a Cheshire cat grin, looks at Paul and nods her head. "You're winning me over, aren't you?" she laughs.

Buying the farm also meant buying machinery. The Longs found a tractor in West Virginia and then went shopping for a hay baler. "It cost us $50,000 just to make hay," confesses Paul.

When the fencing is completed, the Longs will be ready to go cattle searching. "I've been reading some ads," Paul says. "By the time the fencing is finished, we'll be ready."

Meantime, the couple is thoroughly enjoying the brisk sunny days of autumn. "As long as the weather stays nice, I'm not a bit sorry we got back into this," Louise comments.

Franklin County Beekeepers Crown Queen

BY BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.)— Hope Mackey, 17, is Franklin County's 1989-1990 Honey Queen. She was crowned September 21 at the 11th annual meeting of the Franklin County Beekeeper's Association, held at the Lighthouse Youth Center, Chambersburg.

Hope, the daughter of Ken and Joyce Mackey, served as the county's honey princess last year. She is a sophomore at Chambersburg Area Senior High School, and is also a cosmetology student at Vo-Tech. During her reign, she will make speeches around the county to promote honey, and will pass out various food items made with honey.

Hope's family has 50 hives of bees.

The association elected officers for 1989-90. Robert Bonner, Waynesboro, was elected president; Haven Keller, Greencastle, vice president; Mark Burkholder, Chambersburg, secretary-treasurer; Harold Hoffeditz, Mercersburg, assistant secretary-treasurer; and Ken Mackey, Chambersburg, director.

Robert Shank, outgoing president of the association, served as moderator.

him in all three groups -- high, borderline and low. In determining whether your cholesterol is HDL or LDL (bad or good), 39 percent of the labs were checked and reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The average error rate exceeded 31 percent.

In his book, Moore points out that drug companies are more favorable to developing drugs that people will take for life, such as high blood pressure medicine, as opposed to medicine that they take and get well. In looking over his interpretations and checking his figures with research that has been done, it seems that we have a lot of uncertainties regarding arteriosclerosis. Will these findings be swept under the rug because there is no government funding to support his theories? Think of how many people's livelihoods are now dependent on the cholesterol scare. It is a multi-million dollar business.

A while back a group of friends were discussing how their great-grandmother had lived to the ripe old age of 101 and stayed in reasonably good health. Someone said, "My Gosh, just think how long she would have lived if she had eaten right!" You don't suppose she knew something we don't?

Take A Look At KILE Activities

Donna MacCauley was crowned PA Suffolk Queen during the KILE sheep show. The 19-year-old student at Penn State will compete for the national title at the North America Livestock Exposition, Kentucky,in Novemeber.

Racing pigs thrilled the audience during KILE activities held at the Farm Show complex held during October 5 to 9.

Two-year-old Jenna Nicole Maxwell, daughter of James and Susan of New Cumberland, examines a pig's ear during KILE festivities.

These fellows showed off their muscles during the Ag Olympic competition sponsored by Lebanon Valley National Bank at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Stephanie Bowman, 12, and her brother Michael, 13, demonstrated fitting to the crowd that gathered at KILE. The brother and sister team from Lehartsville in Berks County win at county competition but had a tougher time at KILE where exhibitors come from many states.

According to Stephanie the secret to having good sheep is spending lots of time with them. She loves going to shows, but does not like "manuring out sheep pens."

Can you believe it? A goat that blows up balloons? Happy LaClair and his wonder goat Blaze showed kids at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition this marvelous feat.

Patience by the Bucketful

Warning: If you follow me, you will be in the slowest line!

I think that I should probably have a T-shirt with that message written on the back for anyone who steps behind me in a line. I guarantee it will be the slowest one (at least that is what it seems like to me)! A few weeks ago I had a car full of teenagers and was in a line of traffic that took three hours to go three miles. By the third hour, my patience was depleted.

Patience is the name of the game, and one in which I must improve my average. A co-worker once related to me a visual image of receiving a bucketful of patience each day. Each of us gets a fresh bucketful each day that must last for the whole day. No one gets more than one bucketful, and none can be saved for another day. The goal is to use up as little as possible. If you can visualize a bucketful of patience it is easy to understand what someone means when they say, "I've just about run out of patience!"

The biggest problem with this bucket of patience is keeping it intact. Sometimes we have leaks in the bucket. Do you "lose" patience when someone drives slower than the speed limit...in front of you; when your child takes twenty minutes to dress himself; when an elderly person climbs the stairs slowly while you wait to rush by. We each have our own "leak" in our bucketful of patience. Sometimes our leaky bucket is purely our own fault and results from over-scheduling, poor planning, and fatigue. The next time you find that you are "running out of patience" try a time-out. For example, if you have become exhausted from refereeing the children, actually call a time-out. Each family member goes to a separate area for the designated period of time. Five minutes is generally long enough to refresh your bucketful of patience. Then get back together and calmly work out the solution together. If you find you have "lost your patience" while waiting in line at the grocery store, calm yourself by calling a time-out. Instead of muttering and shooting fire at the person ahead with 100 coupons, use the time for your personal benefit. Take several deep breaths, hum a favorite tune, roll your head from side to side to relax your neck muscles, or analyze the fashion trends of the other shoppers. We have to work at patience, because for most of us it does not come naturally.

I've also noticed that we seem to loss our patience most often with two types of people: family members and people we don't know at all. That may seem like opposites but it is understandable. Close friends and family members know us well and generally accept our behavior as it is. Strangers that we see only once in a lifetime have never seen any other behavior and probably don't care. Isn't it embarrassing to tailgate the slow driver in front of you, only to pass and find out it is your neighbor? Now you worry about the impression you've made.

Patience is a gift we can give to family, friends and strangers. Patience. You can't see it or feel it, but you sure know when you have a lot and when you've run out. It's there to use when you really need it, if you work to stop any leaks.

I have been wondering, though, do parents get larger buckets than everyone else, or do they just plug leaks better?

Classic Tractor Calendar Released

Vintage tractor owner John Clow, Centreville, Maryland, has earned recognition for restoring a 1937 Oliver Hart-Parr Standard 70 to its original condition. His painstaking project won a page in the 1990 Classic Farm Tractor Calendar by Du Pont, which will be distributed to more than 100,000 farmers. A companion full-color poster and videotape also are available, featuring all 14 tractors selected for the calendar.

"My husband's name is John, but from his 'habit' you would swear it's Oliver," says Pat Clow of her spouse's obsession with old Oliver tractors. A semi-retired carpenter, John denies having green blood, but doesn't deny being fascinated by antique Olivers. "Every trip I take, I scan every farm for old models," he says.

This Oliver sports a six-cylinder, vertical, valve-in-head engine with a 3⅛ in. bore and 4¾ -in. stroke. An electric starter, battery and lights were optional. This model came with steel "tip-toe" wheels, while rubber tires were optional, of course.

National Forest Products Week Scheduled

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — By congressional proclamation, October 15 through 21 is National Forest Products Week. The theme for this year is managing the future of America's forests. This theme reflects the forest industry's concern and commitment to America's future.

Forests play an important role in Pennsylvania's economy. The wood-using industry in Pennsylvania employs more than 89,000 workers with an annual payroll in excess of $1.9 million. Seventeen million acres in Pennsylvania is classed as forest; this represents 58 percent of the total land area in the state.

Pennsylvania grows some of the highest quality hardwood timber in the United States. Species such as red and white oak, sugar maple, white ash, and yellow-poplar occur throughout the state. Pennsylvania also grows the best black cherry in the world, and it is the most valuable timber species in the state. Many of the baseball bats used in major leagues are made from Pennsylvania white ash.

The continued productivity of Pennsylvania's forests depends on wise, professional resource management. Despite continued population pressures and competing uses for forest resources, America's forests still are among the most productive in the world. Largely as a result of careful resource management, the U.S. built 46 million new housing units and produces 1.7 billion tons of paper and paperboard in the past 25 years.

Today, wood products include more than just lumber and paper products. Wood flour and melamine resins, using cellulose filler, are components of dinnerware, telephone housings, and radio and TV cabinets. Torula yeast, made from wood sugars spent in the pulping process, is used in baby foods, cereals, baked goods, and dietary preparations. Ethyl cellulose is used in products such as sausage casings and photographic films. Rayon, a natural fiber, is used in the garment industry.

Given this rising demand for both traditional and non-traditional uses of wood fiber, it becomes apparent that sound forest management is becoming more and more important. With sound management, timber can be harvested leaving a supply available for future generations.

Information on forests and forest management can be obtained through county Extension offices.

Pennsylvania Recognized For Farm Preservation Work

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania was honored last month by the American Farmland Trust for its efforts in farmland preservation, according to state Rep. Samuel Morris, D-Chester, chairman of the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee.

The award, given in Washington, D.C., recognizes Pennsylvania as a national leader in the drive to protect farms from being developed into commercial or residential properties.

Accepting the Public Policy and Program Award to the state was Gov. Robert P. Casey. Separate awards also were presented to Morris and state Sen. Noah Wenger, R-Lancaster, who spearheaded the program.

In making these awards, AFT noted: "State Representative Samuel Morris and State Senator Noah Wenger took the lead in gathering bipartisan support for this program."

The Pennsylvania Farmers Assocation and AFT also gave strong and active support to the 1987 referendum campaign, which resulted in voters overwhelmingly approving a $100 million bond issue to finance the program.

Under this program, farmers can sell the development rights to their land to the counties or the state. In doing so, the land cannot be used for any other uses other than agricultural.

Chester County is one of the state's leaders in implementing this program on the local level.

"I'm very pleased this program was recognized by AFT," Morris said. "It's an important program that will help us preserve much of the beautiful and bountiful farmland in Pennsylvania."

The idea for the program came in the early 1980s after it was learned that more than 90,000 acres of farmland was being lost each year to development in the state, Morris said. "We need this program to preserve our countryside and the many benefits open spaces provide, including clean water."

AFT is the nation's only nonprofit organization solely dedicated to protecting farmland. The awards honor individuals and organizations who have made outstanding contributions to protect the nation's agricultural resources.

AFT said Pennsylvania's program "not only ranks as the nation's most far-reaching farmland preservation program, but serves as an outstanding example of the merits of public and private cooperation in protecting our agricultural resources."

Youth Show Their Skills In Sheep Breeding And Showmanship At KILE

BY LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Erick Hayes of Tyrone captured the coveted grand champion market lamb title with his 117-pound Suffolk during KILE competition on Sunday, October 8. In his sixth year of showing, Erick also has won grand champion titles at his county fair and at Farm Show.

As a cross country runner at Warriors Mark school, Erick runs daily with his sheep to keep them both in shape. Erick is also in Huntingdon County 4-H and in FFA.

If you drive past B & B Livestock in Danville, Ohio, you'll probably see Angela Banbury and her 18 sheep running up and down hills every morning and evening. All that running paid off for Angela's market sheep took reserve champion market lamb title and the champion pair market lamb placing.

For her showmanship, Angela placed first in the senior showmanship competition. She also had won grand champion at Louisville last year and at seven different state shows. Angela is the granddaughter of Dr. Robert Herr, a well known sheep breeder from Narvon's Nix Bessler's farm.

Junior showmanship honors went to Andrea Musser of New Middletown.

During the Suffolk competition, Donna MacCauley, Atglen, was crowned the PA Suffolk Queen. The 19 year old will compete for the national crown at Kentucky. The daughter of William and Joan MacCauley, Donna is majoring in ag business at Penn State, Delaware County campus.

DORSET

Christine Baxter showed a winning combination with her champion ram and her reserve champion ewe during the Dorset breeding sheep competition held on Sunday.

Jenny Zerby of Red Oak Farm, Beavertown, took the champion ewe title.

The reserve champion ram Dorset belonged to Robert Wilson of Dansville N.Y.

Stacy Suffel, 15, of Carlisle captured the judge's attention with her top showmanship qualities. She also placed third in the senior division of the Lead Line.

OXFORD

Champion Oxford ram and reserve champion ewe went to Kendra Lay of Ridgeway, Ohio.

Reserve champion ram went to Paula Hunter of Fleetwood. Her sister, Christine, won the junior showmanship contest for the Oxford breed.

Jason Bixler took the champion ewe for his Oxford from Mt. Holly Springs.

HAMPSHIRE

Fifteen-year-old Stacy Suffel was all smiles during KILE competition. Night Stalker, the Carlisle teen's Hampshire ram was the biggest, heaviest, most volume muscled and structurally correct ram competing in the breed's division. The day before, Stacy had placed second in the open show. And in the Dorset division she placed first with her spring ewe lamb. That wasn't all, in lead line competition, Stacy came in third. For seven years, Stacy has been showing sheep from their Sulphur Run Farm flock of 30 breeding and market sheep.

Reserve champion ram honors went to Robert Dinsmore of Jefferson, Md.

The champion ewe belonged to Matthew Nickerson of Wellsboro and Christine Baxter of Lane Ranch placed as reserve champion with her yearling ewe.

SHROPSHIRE

Renee Cleversy of Painesville, Oh., took the champion ram Shropshire trophy with her spring ram lamb. The reserve champion went to Greg Erb of Beavertown.

Champion ewe went to a yearling owned by Geoff Powell of Rome. Robert Dinsmore of Jefferson, Md., placed with his reserve champion ewe.

SOUTHDOWN

Only 10-years-old and Matt Trostle has already surpassed the friendly competition he has with his 22-year-old sister Melissa. The brother and sister show Southdowns from their Red Lion flock of 65 Hamps and Southdowns.

Matt swept Southdown honors for champion ram, champion and reserve ewe and showmanship.

Ironically, the reserve champion ram was from Trostle's ewe. It was owned and showed by Jennifer Flinchbaugh of York.

The Trostles never intended to get into the sheep business. Seven years ago Melissa won a sheep in 4-H competition. They soon found out they couldn't raise one alone; consequently they purchased another and things snowballed from there. Sheep are no longer a hobby but a business on the Trostle farm.

SUFFOLK

Suffolk champion ram went to T.L. Brookover of Mt. Morris. Stacy Brasheare's ram won the reserve placing.

Champion ewe honors went to Melanie Snyder of Parker. The 12-year-old is the daughter of Jack and Donna Snyder who operate Snyder's Suffolks in Clarion County. Melanie, who said it was her first time at KILE, has her own herd of 18 Suffolk and several Holstein cows.

Precious and Bugs Bunny brought success to Ohio exhibitor Susan Marie Wise with a reserve champion ewe and a second place in Lead Line modeling and second in showmanship of her breed and first in the Suffolk breed. On the family's Bo-Lin-Su farm they raise 55 to 60 registered Suffolks for the past 17 years. The Danville teen started showing six years ago and has placed in several national shows.

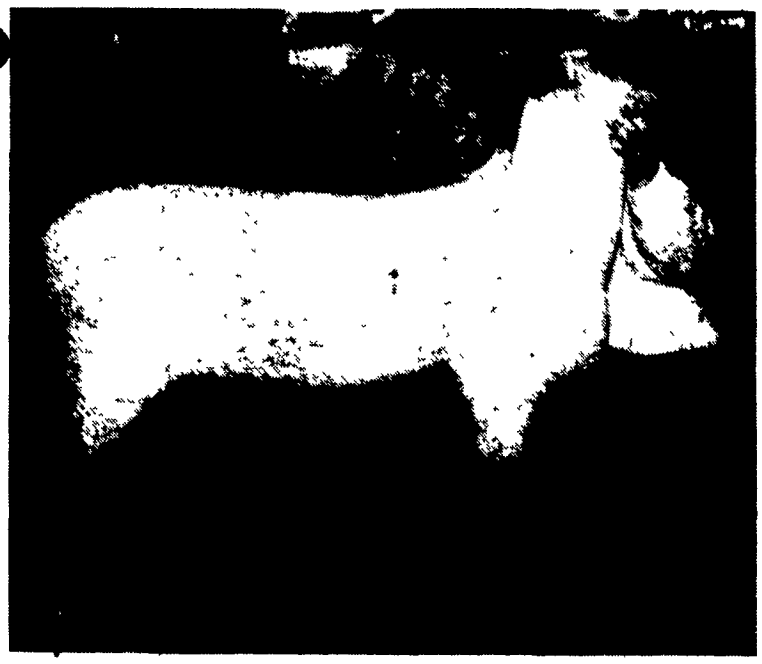
Hugo Doesn't Daunt Berks County 4-H Lamb Buyers



Amy Eshelman received both the top showman and top fitter honors with her sheep at the Berks County 4-H lamb roundup.

READING, (Berks Co.) — A hard, cold rain and winds gusting between 25 and 30 miles an hour didn't seem to bother the hardy buyers at the Berks County 4-H market lamb sale held late last month at the Reading Fairgrounds. Despite the uncomfortable conditions, bidding was brisk for the grand champion market lamb owned by Travis Werley of Shoemakersville. The 131-pound Suffolk finally was purchased by King's IGA for a whopping $6.50 a pound. Leaving the tent more than $800 richer than when he entered, Werley was very pleased with the day's events. "I'm going to put it toward a truck," he explained.

Alice Strause of Hamburg had the reserve champion, a 114-pound Hampshire that had been selected as the middleweight champion. A number of buyers bid on the reserve and Auctioneer John Fry of Ephrata skillfully marched the price up to $6.50 per pound for the second time that day. Kuzan's Hardware Store of Shoemakersville finally got the animal for $741. Strause, who has only been raising sheep for two years, decided to purchase more lambs with her windfall.

Valerie Hunter exhibited the champion pair, which included the third heavy middleweight and the reserve champion heavyweight. Despite a combined weight of 232 pounds, Hunter received $4.25 per pound for the pair from Shillington IGA. "I think I'll put some toward a car," Hunter explained.

"She is in 11th grade and some will go toward college too," her father, Leon Hunter, added. Hunter, one of the county's 4-H sheep leaders, was impressed by the sale. "The weather was terrible but the prices were fantastic," he said.

Prices stayed firm throughout the sale despite ever worsening weather conditions. The average price per pound excluding the champions was a fine $1.30. This was over twice the buy back price of $.60. A total of 32 lambs were sold.

In other sheep news, market lamb and breeding sheep shows were held during the Reading Fair prior to the sale. Showmanship and fitting contest also were held. A partial list of the results follows.

SLICK CONCRETE CAN BE ROUGHENED

SCABBLING is an effective way to avoid unnecessary losses of cattle. The SCABBLER makes bands about two inches wide approximately 1/8" to 3/16 in. depth. This gives sufficient area for good footing while allowing you to scrape the smooth surface as before. It is near enough to the surface to give your cows full advantage of the roughness and deep enough to remain effective for years. It greatly aids in heat detection.

And the good news is that it is reasonably priced. You have the choice of doing it yourself or having us do it for you. We offer service right to your door. Call us for more details.

Instant Replay garnered the title in the second annual edition of this Jersey Harvest Futurity when she bested the six other entries. W.F. Saint Prim, owned by Holly Stiles of Waverly Farm, Va., took the only other award that was given to the highest placing junior exhibitor. Prim took third place in the lineup. Second place went to Gaywinds Captain Cristen, owned by Jack Kahler of Keymar, Md. She was born in September, 1986, and sired by Gaywinds Saint Captain out of Gaywinds Saint Crissy.

Instant Replay, born in March, 1987, had been nominated for this futurity as a calf by her breeders because of the high type bred into HARRISBURG — A stylish two-year-old sired by one of the Jersey breed's new headlining sires topped the 1989 Pennsylvania State Jersey Sale for $1,750. The State Jersey Sale, held September 27 in Harrisburg, featured 32 well-bred young cows for an average price of $1,042.

Bon-Way Pride Top, sired by Molly Brook Brass Top and featured in many of the advertisements for the bull, commanded the sale's high price from buyer Donald Stonerook, of Martinsburg. Scored VG-81, Top is working on a record of 10,173 pounds of milk with a 5.1% test. Her dam, sired by H.V.F. Pacesetter, boasts records more than 13,000 pounds of milk with a high test. She was consigned by Wayne Braughler of Marion Center.

Stonerook, pleased with his purchase, has bought animals at past Jersey All American sales. Farming with Holsteins until 1982, Stonerook began adding Jerseys to his herd and continually is pleased with their efficiency and ease of handling. His current herd consists of 45 Jerseys and 20 Holstein and averages 13,157 pounds of milk, 689 pounds of butterfat, and 520 pounds of protein for the Jerseys and 18,900 milk, 728 fat, and 615 pounds of protein for the Holsteins.

The second high seller of the sale was a just-fresh four-year-old daughter of Highland Magic Duncan, the top sire of the Jersey breed. Vantage Duncan Susan brought a bid of $1,600 from Elroy Jerseys of Meyersdale. With a record of more than 14,149 pounds of milk and 678 pounds fat as a three-year-old record, on three times milking, Susan has a beautiful udder. She was consigned by Vantage Jerseys of Fredonia. Her new owner was also the volume buyer of the day, taking home five head to increase his herd of 35 Jerseys.

Third high seller was another Duncan daughter, recently fresh, selling for $1,575 to Craig Rhein of Pine Grove. Bryncoed Duncan I-oh is a two-year-old Duncan with a Soldier Boy dam that has a record of more than 12,600 pounds of milk and a 4.7% test. She was consigned by Samuel Williams III of Middletown.

The 1989 production award, awarded to the top producer sold at last year's sale went to Antietam Hill Cherub, purchased in 1988 by Alvin and Janet Vance,

The Production Award to the highest-producing cow from the 1988 sale went to Alvin and Janet Vance of New Stanton. The award was presented to them by David Norman and Bill Dietrich of the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club.

The high-selling Pot of Gold consignment was Ralaine Royal Jester, who sold for $600 to Ellen Norman of Liberty. Consignor Lori Sollenberger and David Norman, who entered the bid for his daughter, stand with the heifer, which is held by Leroy Hockenberry.

her pedigree. Sired by Valley-stream Silver Beacon and out of J & J Sleeping Emily, her dam holds a score of EX-90. Not yet scored herself, Instant Replay, holds the title of best bred and owned, two year old at the 1989 Ohio State Fair and also took the same honors in this futurity.

Production is also included in her pedigree. Instant Replay has been fresh since March and with 43 pounds on her latest test, is working on a record of 13,100 actual. Her granddam also boasts records to 19,000 pounds.

"I knew she was a good cow," stated her owner, Kevin Williams, after the show. Jerseys have been on his farm for more than 100 years and with a herd of 25 to 30 head, he does extensive showing to promote his herd. Also entered in the Ohio Futurity and the national Jersey Jug in Louisville, Ky., in November, Instant Replay heads out to Madison next week and then to Kentucky.

Why Bush Hog Squealers Mow Down The Competition.

There are two basic reasons why Bush Hog Squealers have outsold the competition. The first reason is dependability. Each cutter is equipped with Bush Hog's tough patented gearbox and, except for the 42 inch model, all Squealers feature oval-type blade pans. The 60 and 72 inch wide models have an "in-line" shèar pin with ball bearing protection that can be replaced in a snap. The cutter blade tips move faster for more efficient cutting. And Bush Hog quality is built into every unit to cut grass and maintenance problems at the same time.

The second reason for the Squealer's popularity is the price. Because when you compare the prices of these tough economy cutters to the competion, you'll find Squealers cut another important thing as well...your costs. Choose from five cutter widths and discover why Bush Hog Squealers mow down the competition.

MAGNUM

7110 & 7120 In Stock
New With 4 Reverse Speeds Trans.

Case IH put more into the new MAGNUM Tractor line than any farm tractors developed in over twenty years. Here's why you'll get more out of it.

MAGNUM means more. Outstanding field performance from a new 305-cubic-inch turbocharged engine with reverse power. MAGNUM power.

The MAGNUM Tractor's powershift plus 18 speeds of shift-on-the-go workpower at your fingertips—standard. And only MAGNUM Tractors offer a full powershift creeper transmission with six additional speeds from .5 to 2.1 mph for more control and performance. MAGNUM performance. The MAGNUM Tractor's new larger cab has 40 square feet of window area — virtually unobstructed visibility — more room and more seating comfort. MAGNUM comfort.

It all adds up: Case IH MAGNUM Tractors are setting new standards for the 130-195 PTO hp power range and for you. See us for details.

★ See The New Updated Magnum With New Features ★
Including The New 4-Reverse Transmission.
Only Case IH Offers You A Warranty Like This!
5 Years Or 5000 Hrs.;

The MAGNUM 5-Year/5,000-Hour Warranty

MAGNUM means more! But there's much more to a MAGNUM tractor than meets your eye. Because behind the more powerful engines, the more efficient transmissions and the high-visibility cabs.

Stands the best warranty in the business: The MAGNUM tractor 5-year/5,000-hour warranty, whichever occurs first.* A warranty that gives you coverage, from top to bottom, front to back. It's the best warranty in the business. By far. The way MAGNUM tractors are built there's a good chance you'll never need to take advantage of this advantage.

Come on in and look over the all-new MAGNUM tractors. And ask us for details on the best warranty.. and the best tractors in the business.

* Excluding tires, which are covered by their own manufacturers warranties. A $200 deductible applies to each repair after the first year.

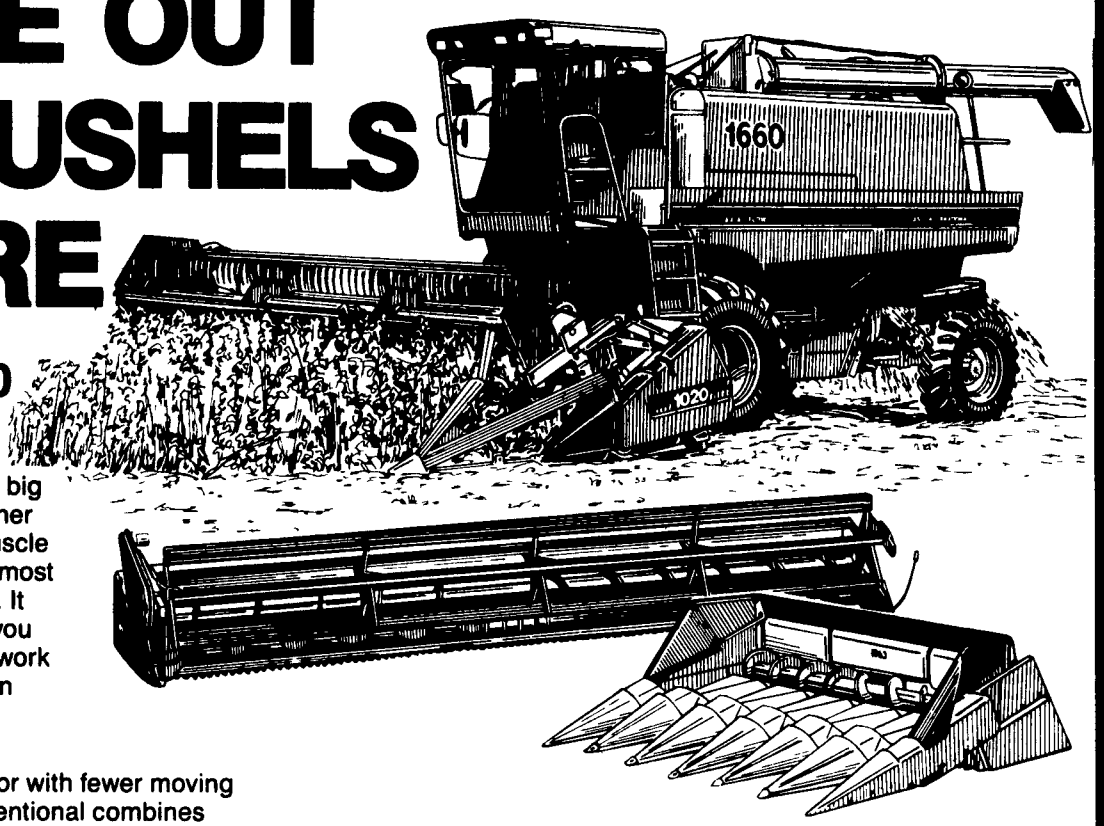
SQUEEZE OUT MORE BUSHELS PER ACRE



Case International 1660 Axial-Flow Combine

When it comes to harvesting crops, this big crop-saver can save more grain than other combines in its size class. It has the muscle to "get in and get out" fast to make the most of each day of good harvesting weather. It consistently turns out cleaner grain so you can get top market price. Put a 1660 to work and take advantage of these field-proven features.

- Axial-Flow Design. Uses a single rotor with fewer moving parts and fewer problems than conventional combines using the cylinder-and-concave design. Its more gentle threshing action means less cracked grain and top price for every bushel.
- Human-Engineered Cab. Provides day-long comfort for increased operator productivity.
- 180 hp Turbocharged Diesel and 3-Speed Hydrostatic Transmission. Plenty of power to handle soft soils and hilly terrain.
- 1015 Pickup Header. Available in 11- and 13-foot widths. Hydraulic variable speed drive lets you match crop pickup to ground speed for smooth delivery with minimum shattering.
- 1010 Rigid and 1020 Flexible Cutterbar Direct Cut Headers also available in several widths from 15 to 30 feet depending on model.
- 1000 Series Corn Heads in four to eight row sizes

Axial-Flow Combines
SIMPLY MORE PRODUCTIVE IN THE FIELD

Over the past twelve years the Case IH axial-flow combines have proven themselves to be more productive than the combines previously owned by our customers. In tall crops, short crops or down crops; bumper crops or drought crops the axial-flow combines put more crop in the bin and, therefore, return more market dollars to you. The Case IH axial-flow is simply more productive in the field where the bragging stops.

HOOBER:
Axial-Flow production specialists

1. Every new combine Hoober sells is expertly predelivered and started in the field by a professional combine mechanic; experienced in setting and adjusting for all common crops.
2. Hoober's professional combine mechanics drive fully equipped combine service trucks, stocked with commonly used wearing parts. When called to service or repair an axial-flow combine, they carry with them the tools and equipment to do the job and get you back to the field fast.
3. Hoober's Parts Department has the largest combine parts inventory in the East. Daily pick-ups at the Case IH Parts depot help to provide fast emergency parts availability. Hoober's expert combine PARTS service provides you minimum downtime and maximum productivity.

Is Your Corn Picker Engine In Shape To Handle This Year's Heavy Crop?

This twin 20 hp is becoming very popular for hay balers and other applications traditionally equipped with 2 cylinder Wisc. engines and can also replace the older 4 cylinder engines on some applications.

Works very well to run corn pickers, crimpers and mower crimper units. We can mount your Wisc. clutch reduction for $1495 or sell the engine with used Wisc. reduction for $1995. Price includes picking up your clutch and delivery of completed unit to you. (Lancaster County Only)

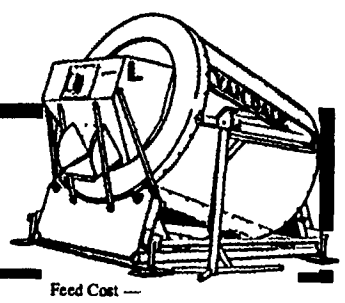
VAN DALE — Dependability through Quality

RISING FEED COSTS?

VAN DALE Has The Answer!

the Orbit Mixer



Thousands of dairy farmers just like you have changed to a total mixed ration program for their dairy herds—and they're glad they did. By working with a qualified nutritionist to determine the most economical ration for their herds, and by using a VAN DALE Orbit Mixer designed to blend the exact ration every time, these dairy farmers are reporting significant profit improvements through lower feed costs and/or higher milk production.

Typical Savings for 60 Cow Herd:

Feed Cost —
20 cents per cow per day
60 cows x 365 x .20 = $4,380

Milk Production —
4 lbs extra per cow per day
60 cows x 300 x 4# x .10 = $7,200

Bottom Line Savings
60 cows per year - $11,580

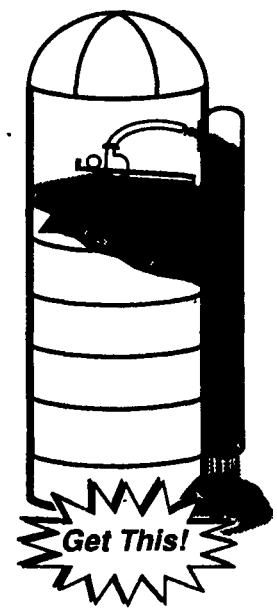
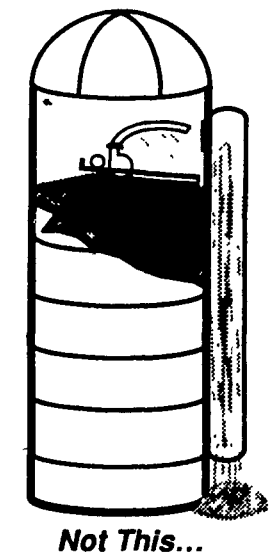
Get the Power You Pay For With Van Dale DURAGLIDE™



Get This!



Not This...

The newest innovation in silo unloading—from Van Dale, of course—is the DURAGLIDE Impeller System, which dramatically increases throwing power while reducing power requirements.

The DURAGLIDE paddle and wrapper inserts are slicker than glass and more durable than stainless steel.

Reduces friction and gummy buildups in the impeller.

Results in silage out the door every time—no annoying trips up the silo!

See this revolutionary system today at your local Van Dale dealers.

TYPES OF HARMONICAS

SINGLE REED (Diatonic) The reeds of diatonic harmonicas are tuned to produce the natural notes of the scale without sharps or flats. Each hole has a blow and draw reed. Most of these harmonicas have ten holes with the four middle holes providing a complete note octave.
TREMOLO TUNED Tremolo harmonicas have double holes each containing two reeds tuned to the same note, one tuned slightly higher then the other, Both reeds are either blow or draw, which creates a beautiful, vibrating or tremolo effect.
OCTAVE TUNED Octave tuned harmonicas are similar to tremolos in reed layout. The difference is that each double hole, instead of having reeds tuned to the same note, has one reed an octave apart from the other. The resulting sound is stronger and more full bodied. Full Concert models have four reeds in each double hole: a pair of blow and draw reeds.
CHROMATIC-Provide complete 12 note octaves with all sharps and flats. Pressing the slide on the side of the harmonica opens/closes reeds for sharps/flats. The Chromatic takes more practice.

Quality Shines At KILE Breeding Swine Show

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG — The finest breeding hogs, many from as far away as Illinois, came to Pennsylvania to compete in the Keystone International Livestock Exposition last weekend. Judge Jack Wall, director of activities for the American Berkshire Association and a Duroc breeder, was impressed by the quality of animals paraded before him.

"I am somewhat surprised about the depth of quality in the show," he said. "I feel that the majority of breeders are on the same wavelength as to what consumers want from hogs."

BERKSHIRE

March was the month in the Berkshire breed with both champion boar and gilt being born in the third month of the year. Second-year exhibitor Dan Huff and family of Washington Courthouse, Ohio, walked away with the champion Berkshire boar, a DHF8 Sylvester son out of DHF7 A. Miss UGH.

A Beach Boy daughter took the top gilt title. Owned by veteran competitors Mapes Family Berkshires of Unionville Center, Ohio, M[illegible]B9 Miss Beach Boy is out of [illegible]FB7 Miss Top Gun 88-5.

Both Berkshire reserve champions were from the herd of Ashville, Ohio, exhibitors Whippel Purebreds. Both also were February get of MLS8 Wright Stuf 9-3. The boar, WPF9Wright Stuff 16-2, is out of WPF8 Cobalt 4-5, while the gilt, WPF9 Cobalt 14-5, has WPF7 Cobalt 1-5 for a dam. Whippel Purebreds also was the premier exhibitor.

CHESTER WHITE

James Parlett and his son, Gus, dominated the Chester White division showing three out of the four top animals and nabbing the coveted premier exhibitor award. The Airville-based duo showed a trio of TRF7 Running Gear 1-6 progeny that won their classes and went on to be named champion and reserve boar and champion gilt.

TM R.G. S89 11-3, the February boar, edged out his March herd mate for the champion title. The March boar, TM R.G. S89 13-3, is out of TM Diane 2-9, while the champion is out of TM Diane 10-9.

The champion gilt is a January pig out of TM Ann 7-7.

The reserve champion Chester White gilt was driven by Rodger Bankert of Hanover, who had the champion boar and champion and reserve gilt last year. Bankert's February gilt, 9MS DSF Duncan 2-4, won the reserve champion rosette. She is a RDS6 DSF Duncan 4-1 daughter out of TM Pal 17 S85.

DUROC

The champ[illegible] rosettes each went to a different breeder in the Duroc division. The show's premier Duroc exhibitor, Jay C. Acworth of Abbottstown, also won the champion boar title. Owner of Tori-J Farm, Acworth showed a February boar that caught the judge's eye. The winner, TJD9 Eastern Doc 15-7, is a Eastern Doc III son out of TJD7 Miss Meg 20-1.

The March boar shown by Laucher's Durocs of Prospect, Ohio, was named the show's reserve champion. LB9 Rawson 25-4 is a Rawson son out of Miss College 87.

Slipping into the champion gilt position was the March pig shown by Isla Grande Farms in Marion, Ohio. Exhibitors of last year's KILE reserve champion boar, Isla Grande Farms' 1989 champion is a IGF Truman daughter out of PS8 MS Hot Sun 3-9.

Ken Fetterolf, a Centre Hall hog breeder, showed the reserve champion gilt, a LD8 Flatbush 11-3 daughter. Fetterolf had the champion gilt last year at KILE.

HAMPSHIRE

James Steele and his family swept the top Hampshire boar titles with their March offerings. This is the second year of competing at KILE for the Richwood, Ohio, exhibitors, and their first champions at the show. Both champions were L Yank 7-4 sons with JSF9 L Yank 8-4, out of JSF Emily, edging out JSF9 L Yank 7-2, out of JSF Emily 6-3.

Strawbridge & McCleary of Windsor showed pigs that took firsts in three out of the four gilt classes, but only the April gilt went on to a championship title. The gilt, Miss Dukes Tank 7-7, is a SBF Duke I daughter out of Miss Tank 2-7. Strawbridge & McCleary also were named premier Hampshire exhibitor.

Taking home the reserve champion gilt was Mark W. Hall, a Mill Hall native. His champion was the second-place April gilt, 9F Pegg 1 29-3, a DJB Tanker 19-4 daughter out of BMFV Pegg 1 27-5.

LANDRACE

For the second year in a row, Barbara Mummert of Seven Valleys had the champion Landrace boar. THF Barsk 2-1, a February son of VBF Barsk 2-12 out of THF Blender 6-1, edged out Dan Huff's March boar, which was named reserve champion.

Rick Fogle with Isla Grand Farm showed the champion Duroc gilt, an IGF Truman daughter.

Dan and Jane Huff of Ohio showed the champion Berkshire boar, a DHF8 Sylvestor son.

POLAND CHINA

Making their KILE debut, Randy and Tona Smith of Alexander, Ill., continued their tradition of winning. Third-generation hog producers, the Smiths drove their March boar and gilt to champion titles. The pair both are sired by IXL Balancer.

The Smiths own Landrace and Hampshires as well and have won championships at many national shows including the 1989 Illinois and Indiana fairs.

The reserve champion boar went to Cheryl Bennecoff of Kutztown. She showed February littermates with CAB9 S 1-6 being named reserve champion. The boar is an IXL8 S AL Balance 34-3 son out of IXL8 PK Pet 16-10. Bennecoff was named the show's Poland China premier exhibitor.

Leland Mapes and family of Unionville Center, Ohio, had the reserve champion gilt. Exhibitors of last year's KILE Poland China champions and reserve champions, the Mapes showed an April gilt that impressed the judge.

SPOTTED SWINE

For the second consecutive year, Brian Lake of Big Cove Tannery had the champion Spotted boar. His champion, B119 Standout 27-2, is a February son of Mr. Standout 88 out of B118 Sadie 18-10. The reserve champion boar was owned by Leslie and Lazarus Brothers of Germansville. The veteran exhibitors, also named the show's premier Spotted exhibitor, showed the first-place March boar, LLB9 Fore Travelor 22-4. Fore Travelor is a TDHS 5 Chad son out of LSF6 Miss Five Shot.

The champion York boar was exhibited by Strawbridge & McCleary, who also were named premier York exhibitor. The boar is JES9 Stetson 5-6, a WGW7 Stetson 7-1 son out of JES7 Miss TOTO 2-5.

The reserve champion gilt was exhibited by Wilson's Yorkshires. The New Freedom York breeders also had last year's champion boar. Their gilt, WW49 Wilson Lady

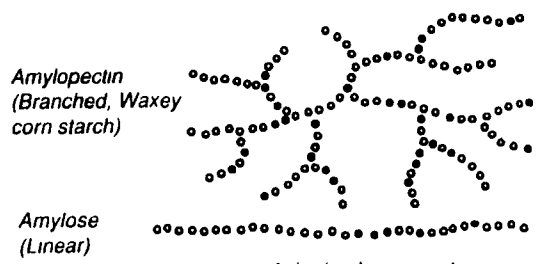
Something New For Every Dairy Farm From Northrup King

Waxey Hybrids

Our full line of waxey hybrids demonstrates our commitment to an ever increasing number of waxey corn growers. They know the advantages of waxey hybrids from The New Northrup King.

Waxey corns look no different from normal dent corn. The difference is in the starch molecules. Starch composition of corn kernels comes in two forms — linear and branched.

The endosperm starch of waxey corn is 100% amylopectin (branched chain). Normal dent corn is 25% amylose (straight chain) and 75% amylopecin. During digestion, end-to-end starch chains break down more slowly than branched chains.



Dairymen report waxey grain improves milk production and butterfat content. Livestock feeders report improved rate of gain and more economical feed conversion with waxey grain. Premium prices are paid for waxey grain in some markets. Demand in export markets has increased steadily.

Dutch Country Calf Sale Planned

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — The Berks County Cattlemen's Association will be hosting the second annual Dutch Country Calf Sale on Saturday, October 28. The sale will be held at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds and will begin at 1:30 p.m. Auctioneer Harry Bachman of Annville will be taking the bids.

"This year's sale will feature another fine selection of Beef calves bred by local beef producers," said Sheila Miller, sale chairman. "A total of 30 head of crossbred and purebred steers and purebred heifers will be offered by 14 consignors."

Miller noted that two steers, which sold at the first Dutch Country Calf Sale, went on to be tagged grand champion at county fairs this summer. A calf sold by Leon Arnold of Lebanon and purchased by Brian Kreider of Lebanon was selected as grand champion of the Lebanon Area Fair. Schuylkill County 4-H'er Mike Otto took his calf, bred by Elmer Stehman of Robesonia, on to win grand champion honors at his county fair. Both young men will receive a $50 gift certificate toward the purchase of another calf at this year's sale.

This year's consignors include Fritz Frey of Twin Oak Farm, Quarryville; Elmer Stehman of Robesonia; Geri and John Gammel of Womelsdorf; Leon Arnold of Lebanon; Mike and Sheila Miller od Deitschland Farm, Womelsdorf; Ken Hebel of Grantville; Jim Huber of Myerstown; Mike Firestine of MAP Farm; Womelsdorf; Frank and Peg Farano of Brook Hill Angus, Robesonia; Glenn Eberly of Eberly Angus, State College; Mylin Messick of Messick Farms, Middletown; Technical Livestock Consultants of State College; Hugh Brown of Kempton; and Larry Arnold of Womelsdorf.

A free lunch, featuring homemade beef vegetable soup and Berks all-beef hot dogs, will be served at noon to all registered buyers.

Westfalia Presents Side-By-Side Milking Parlor

Designed to take less space and milk cows faster, this parlor has a centerline of 29 inches and a sloped platform, which allows easy viewing of the milker.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, IL — A new side-by-side milking parlor, designed to take up less space and milk cows faster than conventional herringbone parlors, is now available through Westfalia Systemat, a leading manufacturer of high-tech dairy equipment and accessories in Elk Grove Village, Il., and Kipe Steel, Chambersburg, Pa.

The Westfalia/Kipe side-by-side milking parlor features a milk cow centerline of 29 inches. This compact spacing stands the cows next to each other, minimizing movement and keeping the cows content throughout the milking process. The parlor's economical design saves the operator valuable time and lowers costs by requiring only one step from cow to cow.

With the side-by-side parlor, milking takes place between the cow's rear legs, and the milker weight is balanced on the animal's quarters to provide extra comfort and better milk flow. Operators have a good view of the unit because the cows stand on a gently sloped platform. In addition, the side-by-side milking parlor gives operators better access to the udder, reducing milker attachment and adjustment times. A unique restraint system gently holds larger and smaller cows at appropriate areas of the neck, directing the cows closer to the operator for easy access.

The side-by-side milking parlor also features an animal-operated, auto-sequential loading system. As the first cow enters her partially opened counter-balanced gate, she pivots open the entry gate for the next cow. The process is continued until the parlor is filled.

Depending on the operator's needs, two basic designs to the side by side milking parlor are available--the standard exit and the fast exit. The stalls in the standard exit system rotate up and out of the way after the milking process, providing a wide, unrestricted exit lane for the cows at either end of the parlor. The fast-exit system opens up the entire row of gates, and the cows are released through the front of the stall quickly and efficiently. The fast exit stall system also can release cows individually for effective cow separation.

For more information on the Westfalia/Kipe side-by-side milking parlor, contact Westfalia Systemat, 1862 Brummel Drive, Elk Grove Village, IL 60007 or call toll free: 800/323-6723.

DuPont Pulls Some Manzate 200 Uses From Market

WILMINGTON, Del. — Du Pont is voluntarily withdrawing some uses of Manzate 200, a mancozeb fungicide used by farmers to protect a wide variety of food and nonfood crops in the U.S.

This action would greatly reduce the hypothetical levels of risk associated with Manzate 200, while preserving the most essential uses on key food crops including tomatoes, potatoes and wheat. Manzate 200 is Du Pont's trademark for its mancozeb fungicide within the class of ethylene bisdithiocarbamate (EBDCs).

"Food properly treated with Manzate 200 is safe for anyone," said William F. Kirk, general director of agricultural products for Du Pont. "Our confidence is based on almost 30 years of use and analysis of more than 100 scientific studies, half of them in the last five years."

"However," he said, "the action Du Pont is taking is intended to reduce public concern about dietary risk and to voluntarily comply with the evolving and increasingly more stringent Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) guidelines on risk assessment."

"Manzate 200 is needed to protect important fruit and vegetable crops from being destroyed by disease," said Kirk. "Without EBDC fungicides like our product, the quality, supply and year-round availability of many food crops would be cut drastically."

In addition to the already completed extensive residue testing, Kirk said Du Pont begins participating this week in a national market basket study. This involves sampling hundreds of fresh and processed food products in more than 300 locations and analyzing them for any traces of mancozeb and ETU, a minor breakdown product. The study will be completed next year. Results will be provided to EPA throughout the study.

Massey-Ferguson Announces New Rotary Combine

This is a cut-away view of the new Massey-Ferguson 8750 rotary combine, which features a 220-horsepower Cummins engine and a 220-bushel grain tank.

DES MOINES, IA — Massey-Ferguson announced today the completion of a manufacturing agreement that is the final step in providing a new rotary combine for its dealers, with production scheduled early in 1990.

The joint agreement calls for Western Combine Corporation to manufacture the new M-F 8570 rotary combine in Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, Canada, for distribution under the M-F label only through the Massey-Ferguson dealer network in North America.

Western Combine Corporation is a subsidiary of Linamar Machine Limited, Guelph, Ontario. Founded in 1966, Linamar is a highly respected precision manufacturer of components and parts for the automotive, farm, and defense industries, with 11 plants in North America.

"The productivity and output of this new rotary combine are exceptional," said David Pitt, president of Massey-Ferguson Inc. "We are pleased that we are able to offer this new 8570 rotary combine as part of our continuing commitment to supply our dealers and customers with an extensive line of reliable products to meet their farming needs.

"With the addition of this new rotary combine to our product line, Massey-Ferguson will be the only company in North America offering both conventional and rotary combines to U.S. and Canadian farmers in 1990," said Pitt.

The M-F 8570 is a Class VI rotary combine powered with a 220-horsepower Cummins "C" diesel. This high-performance rotary combine with a 220-bushel grain tank, has been extensively tested and proven in all crops and field conditions.

It features load-sensing hydraulics, hydrostatic four-speed constant-mesh transmission drive, planetary final drives, and outboard-mounted brakes. An exclusive direct crop discharge eliminates the need for a power-consuming beater, and the longer rotary length gives larger threshing and separating areas for more complete threshing and lower losses.

The M-F 8570 rotary combine is available with headers for every crop, including rigid grain tables up to 30 feet, flexible grain tables up to 24 feet, and six- and eight-row corn heads.

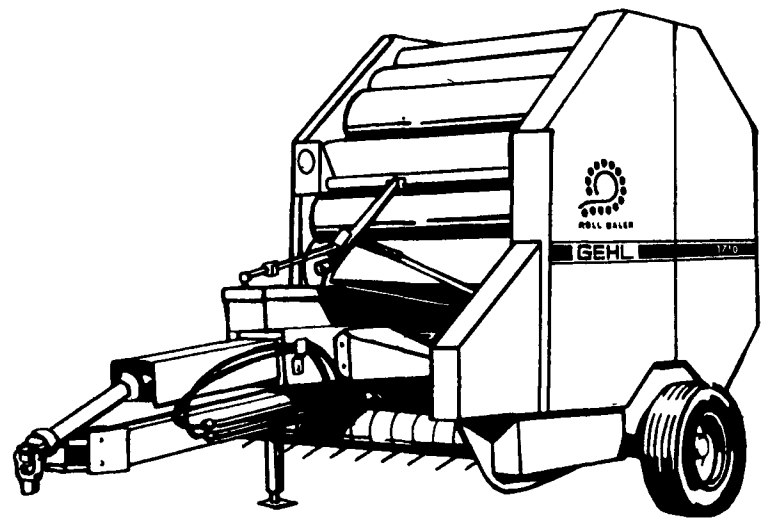
GEHL



Simple Design.....Easy Operation

If you're looking for extra-easy operation, the Gehl Models 1310 and 1710 fixed chamber round balers can't be beat. No other balers are as easy to operate. The pickup feeds material directly into the baling chamber, so these balers easily handle all crops and conditions. Incoming material gently tumbles inside the chamber, gradually forming the bale. The operator simply keeps an eye on the pressure gauge; when it reaches the factory recommended psi the bale is complete. Stop by your Gehl dealer today for more information on these easy-to-operate balers from Gehl.

Competitive Exclusion: A Potential Tool for Pathogen Control

Morris G. Mast, Ph.D.
Prof. of Food Science

Food-borne illness has received much attention in the media during the past two to three years. Names of pathogenic bacteria, such as salmonella, listeria and campylobacter, previously used only by scientists, are becoming household words. These bacteria are responsible for many of the food-borne illnesses in humans. Numerous foods can serve as carriers of these microorganisms, however, foods of animal origin, such as poultry, beef, swine and seafood, most frequently are involved.

The potential presence of pathogens is a major concern to people involved with the production, processing and marketing of these foods.

For years scientists have been investigating causes of and seeking controls for food-borne illness. Results of some of this research were reported in September, 1989, at an international conference on poultry pathogens (Colonization Control of Human Enteropathogens in Poultry).

Among the approaches discussed was competitive exclusion (CE). The goal of CE is to prevent colonization of pathogens within poultry. This is done by exposing newly hatched chicks to non-pathogenic bacteria commonly found in healthy poultry. After these bacteria become established or colonized in the new bird, subsequent exposure to pathogens will result in reduced colonization by the "bad" bacteria.

Does this theory work? To date, the largest field trials involving CE have been conducted in the Netherlands. Scientists used 284 flocks (143 treated with microflora, and 141 untreated) involving 8 million broilers to determine if CE is effective in curbing salmonella colonization. The number of salmonella-positive flocks was reduced from 24 percent in untreated flocks to 15 percent in the CE flocks.

In another field study, 58 flocks (29 treated and 29 untreated, involving 200,000 broilers) were examined for the CE effect towards the pathogen campylobacter. The number of campylobacter-positive flocks was reduced from 45 percent to 31 percent. The scientists did find, however, that cross contamination of animals and of carcasses beyond the production phase (i.e., transportation and processing) resulted in similar levels of pathogens on the final carcasses.

Although many questions remain regarding the CE theory, the above data indicate that this approach may be one tool in combating pathogen colonization in poultry. However, it must be realized that the control (not even mentioning total elimination) of bacterial pathogens is an extremely complex problem.

Is CE the answer to pathogens such as salmonella in poultry? No. Is it a partial answer? Perhaps. It is one approach among the many needed to find the answers to the problem of pathogen control. For example, at this conference it was suggested that CE, in conjunction

Bedford County Exhibitor Wins In Polled Hereford Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — An 18-year-old Penn State sophomore showed the reserve senior champion heifer in the Polled Hereford cattle show during the 33rd annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) in the State Farm Show Complex. Stephen V. Fritz, of Manns Choice, Bedford County, Pennsylvania, has been a competitor at every KILE since the 1984 show.

"It seems like the show keeps growing," said Fritz. "This year there are more commercial exhibitors, and that brought in more people. That suits us, because it's always better to win when there are more people around."

Fritz also picked up three ribbons in class competition and exhibited the best female bred and owned by exhibitor in the Polled Hereford junior breeding cattle show.

Stephen's family operates Scenic View Farm in Manns Choice. The 330-acre operation is near Bedford. Stephen is a graduate of Chestnut Ridge High School in Fishertown. He is studying Animal Production at Penn State.

His KILE reserve senior champion heifer, "SVF Magic Lass 29X" also captured ribbons a week ago in judging at the Eastern National Show in Timonium, Maryland. The same animal was grand champion Polled Hereford at the Bedford County Fair in August.

KILE, now in its 33rd year at the State Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, is one of the premier livestock shows in the nation. Exhibitors have entered 3,500 animals in this year's show, vying for an increased purse of $125,000. The Expo is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Farm Products Show Commission.

with vaccines being developed, may be an additional approach. However it is critical to remember that everyone involved in the production, process and marketing of poultry must play a role in pathogen control. Gains made in one area can be negated if improper methods are used later on in the system.

The final and perhaps most important "player" in this scenario is the consumer or the food service employee who prepares the food product. By adequately cooking food and avoiding post-cook contamination, we as consumers can do much to assure that our food supply is safe.

Ohio Exhibitor Shows KILE Supreme Champion Barrows

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG — After two days of competition, judge Henry Gruber went through hundreds of pigs to select the top barrow at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. The four participants in the final evaluation were the junior champion barrows and the open show champions.

The supreme champion rosettes went to the purebred open champions shown by Dr. Thomas Parks of Jeffersonville, Ohio. The best barrow was Parks' 225-pound Duroc, which was driven by his partner, Bob Moore. The medium-weight pig is a PBE8 Hamalot 45-4 son out of PBE Princess Ralph 10-1.

Slipping into the reserve supreme champion barrow spot was the pair's champion Landrace, a PBE7 Dunderbo of K 32-1 son out of PBE6 Ms Darby of K 54-9.

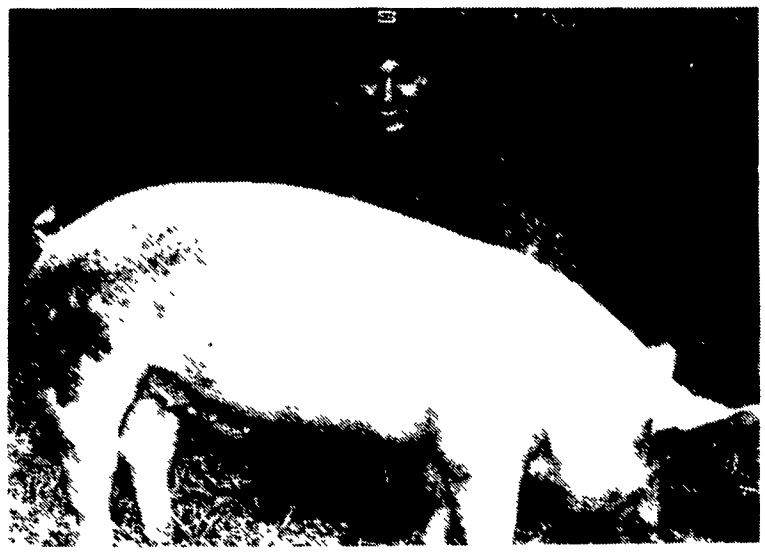
This is the first year of KILE competition for Parks and Moore, who raise purebred Durocs and Landraces. It is not, however, their first brush with the champion spotlight. This year alone they have had the Dixie National grand champion carcass Duroc barrow, the Land of Lincoln champion Duroc carcass, the second-place Landrace production barrow at the National Barrow Show, and the overall grand champion Duroc at the Mid South Show.

Competing against Parks and Moore was Brian Beam of Elverson and his champion junior barrow. This is Beam's first year of exhibiting at KILE. "I figured I'd get blown away up here," he said with surprise. Instead, his Hamp/York 212-pound cross was named winner of the lightweight class and champion.

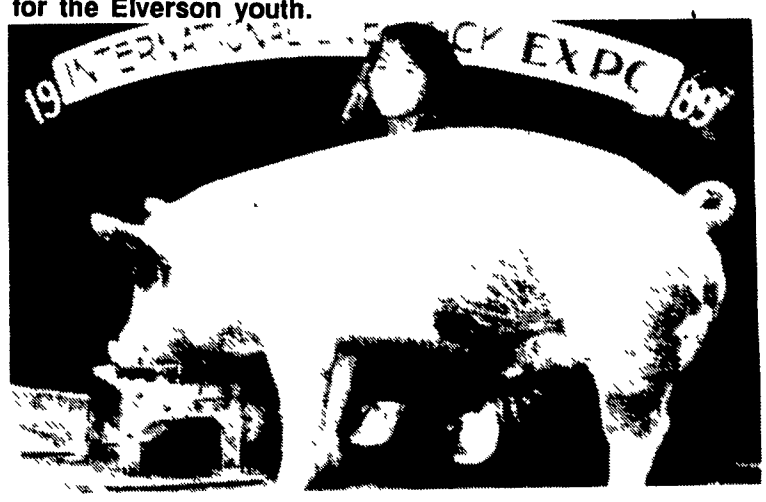
The 17-year-old son of Titus and Violet Beam, he is a fourth-year FFA'er who has been showing hogs for about 10 years. He has had the champion at the 1988 Berks County FFA hog roundup as well as three champions at Chester County 4-H hog roundups.

The reserve champion junior barrow was shown by Kristen Hazelett of State College.

A partial list of the winners follows.



Brian Beam, 17, showed the champion junior barrow, a Hamp/York cross. This is the first year of exhibiting at KILE for the Elverson youth.



Kristen Hazelett of State College exhibited the reserve champion junior barrow.

Bob Moore, pictured, and partner Dr. Thomas Park exhibited the supreme champion barrow, a Duroc.

Virginia Father And Son Team Win Simmental Cattle Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A father and son team from northern Virginia captured top honors for the fourth year in a row in the Simmental Breeding Cattle Show competition during the 33rd Annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) in the Pennsylania State Farm Show Complex.

Donald T. Virts, Jr. of Meadow Hill Farm showed the grand champion bull, the reserve champion heifer and the reserve champion bull. Meadow Hill Farm has captured premier breeder and premier exhibitor honors during KILE each year since 1986.

This year, 29-year-old Donald Virts, Jr. did the exhibiting, while his father stayed home.

show, because the other one has to stay home and keep the place running," said Virts. "This year it's my turn to show and he's back in Virginia cutting silage."

The Virts farm 3,000 acres near Purcellville, Virginia, not far from Harpers Ferry, West Virginia. They raise 350 cow/calf pairs with emphasis on Black Simmental and purebred show animals. They are recognized exhibitors in cattle shows through the eastern U.S. and Canada.

"The Keystone Show gets bigger every year," said Virts. "This time there were more animals than ever and that means a lot when you win."

Hampshires Celebrate Centennial At KILE

BY VAL VANTASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "Whether you are interested in purebred seed stock, rams for commercial use, or lean market lambs, Hampshires fill the bill. Hampshires are in demand now and the breed has a bright future," stated John Nordin at the opening of the Hampshire show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Saturday morning in Harrisburg.

The American Hampshire Association is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year and Hamp owners were out in force to honor the breed. Among the special events was the Hampshire Regional Futurity Show. Dedicated to former association president and long time board member, Nordin, the futurity was just one of 12 held across the country in preparation for the national event scheduled for Louisville next month.

Four Pennsylvanians proved their ability to pick winners well in advance. Tim and Sarah Fleener, Robesonia, R.D. 1, showed the champion ewe in both the open and futurity classes. According to Tim it wasn't that tough to pick the yearling as a future champion. "She just kind of stuck out," Fleener explained.

"Her mother also had a good show record," added Fleener's father-in-law, Clyde Brubaker.

"This ewe was the champion here as a lamb and she was second at the national competition at the Maryland State Fair," Fleener said.

The Fleener's yearling was followed by a late spring lamb owned by Glenn Musselman, Lancaster. Musselman who has only been in the sheep business for five years wasn't daunted by choosing a winner by the 60-day deadline.

"I like to guess as I see the hooves coming out," he joked. "Actually you can pretty much tell within 24 hours whether or not you have a show animal."

Both animals will be traveling to Louisville for national competition.

The top ram in the open competition went to the longtime sheep breeders at the Price Stock Farm of Westminster, Maryland. Judge Dan Strahl liked the size and scale of Price Jackpot, a yearling ram.

He followed Jackpot with another yearling owened by Glenn Musselman. Strahl said the Lancaster entry was the most correct ram in the show calling particular attention to the animals feet and legs.

In the futurity classes, Tim and Sarah Fleener had another champion with the yearling that placed third in the open show. Strahl appreciated the animal's body capacity and breed character.

The reserve went to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brubaker of Robesonia, Pa. with a growthy spring ram.

Matthew Nickeson, Wellsboro, Pa., had the champion sale animal, a spring ewe lamb.

It was followed by a yearling owned by Claudette Choma, Stafford Springs, Conn.

Choma was also named as the premier breeder and exhibitor "I'm really surprised. I brought nine animals with me. Maybe I overwhelmed them with quantity," she laughed. Choma's animals were consistantly near the top of the very large classes.

Judge Strahl admired both the number of entries and the quality of the animals exhibited at the event. Surveying the yearling ewe class with over 40 entries, Strahl picked out the top 15 animals. He then addressed the audience at ringside. "Don't you wish that you could have as many of these as you wanted. I wouldn't pick and choose between this group. I would just back my truck up the ring and take them all."

"We made Massey-Ferguson the Western World's biggest tractor company."

Global industry retail sales of tractors rose less than 2% last year. However Massey-Ferguson posted a sales increase of 17%. This gives Massey-Ferguson an even stronger grip on the number one position with nearly one in every five tractors sold worldwide.

Why the increase?

It starts with good products, of course.

But more and more customers are telling us that it's their M-F dealer that really makes their Massey-Ferguson tractors, and NOW combines, best buys.

Like helping you select and find the tractors, combines and implements — new or used — that fit your needs . . . instead of trying to sell you just what's on their lot.

Like giving you top dollar for your trade in. And helping arrange the best financing, lease or rental plan for your needs.

And always being there with prompt, competent parts and service support.

What it really comes down to is a very professional attitude. We want to keep you coming back again and again.
